Torpedoed Ship Sinks

TUNIS, North Africa, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Another Mediterranean mystery was reported tonight by fishermen living in villages along the eastern coast of Tunisia. They told of the torpedoing or shelling of a strange ship by an unseen attacker just off the coast last night. The ship sank, leaving no trace of itself or crew.

There were two loud explosions, the fishermen said, then flames rose from the ship a short distance from shore. After half an hour the flames were extinguished suddenly, probably by the sinking of the vessel. A powerful searchlight from another ship played on the water around the burning steamer.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The British and French governments tonight issued invitations to ten other powers to attend a conference Friday at Lausanne, Switzerland, or some place near Geneva to discuss plans to rout "pirate" submarines from the Mediterranean and protect merchant shipping.

The invitations, which will assemble, in effect, a transformed committee for nonintervention in Spain, are being sent to the six Mediterranean powers, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, and Albania; the three Black sea powers, Russia, Bulgaria, and Rumania; and Germany, a former active participant in the Spanish naval control scheme.

To Be Held Outside League.

The conference will not confine its discussions to the activities of "fantom" submarines, but will consider joint action to protect shipping against attacks of aircraft and warships.

The chief interest centers on whether Italy and Germany will agree to attend. The conference is being specially held outside the league of nations' framework to make it easier for the dictator powers to send delegates.

The Black sea powers, it is explained, were invited on the grounds that the Mediterranean offers the sole outlet for their ships, and submarine activity recently has been reported in the vicinity of the Dardanelles.

Seek to Protect Trade Routes.

Neither the Spanish government nor the rebel régime of Gen. Francisco Franco was asked to send representatives.

The powers invited to the conference will be urged to confine their submarines near the coast and keep them off certain defined shipping routes. Thereafter, any submarine found on these routes may be instantly sunk—this would be made clear to both Gen. Franco and Spanish government authorities whether they agreed or not.

The British and French representatives also are likely to suggest joint action by the various navies to aid any vessel attacked and coöperate in hunting down pirate submarines.

FEARS BRITISH FASCISM

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 5.—England's growing Fascist sympathies drew a cry of alarm from France today and at the same time brought surprising revelations of the alleged secret aims of British diplomacy under the direction of the Fascist clique in the civil and defense services which actually rules the British empire.

Reflecting, it is believed, the apprehensions of the French government, the semi-official newspaper Oeuvre, under the signature of its diplomatic correspondent Genevieve Tabouis, who is noted for her inside sources in official London as well as Paris, made the following revelations:

FIRST—The pro-Fascist tendency noted in the British foreign office since Neville Chamberlain succeeded Stanley Baldwin as prime minister has been sharply accentuated in the last few days, causing Paris much worry. The main preoccupation of London has been to attempt to white-

ILLINOIS FLYER WINS GREVE AIR TROPHY BATTLE

Oshkosh Pilot Neck and Neck with Him.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Rudy Kling of Lemont, Ill., won the Louis W. Greve trophy and a purse of $4,500 here today when he flew his Folkert special racer, powered by a 250 horse power Menasco 6 engine for 100 miles around the five mile course at an average speed of 232.272 miles an hour.

Rudy Kling wearing garland of victory.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

It was the final of a three day elimination series and one of the tensest competitions ever held in National Air Races, with the next two place winners seconds behind Kling throughout the event.

Steve Wittman of Oshkosh, Wis., was second in his tiny Wittman special, four cylinder Menasco, with a speed of 231.990 miles an hour, and C. H. Gotch of Los Angeles in a Schoenfeld special racer, six cylinder Menasco, was third at 231,593 miles an hour.

Wittman Takes the Lead.

From the take-off Wittman made his bid, opening up an early lead which it seemed impossible for the the others to overcome. Gradually, however, Kling began to creep up. Wittman, flying just above the tree tops and ignoring the strong gusty north wind, held his little plane in a groove. Kling began pushing open the throttle of his engine, which develops 200 more horse power than Wittman's. His speed increased slightly, and then for five consecutive laps the two machines flew as if in military formation, neck and neck.

On one turn Wittman would lead, on the next Kling would be ahead. Finally the added power of Kling's engine began to be felt and he forged ahead.

His lead at the finish, when both dove to within a few feet above the ground, was less than 100 feet.

High Speed Marks Stand.

The crowd saw plenty of fast flying during the early part of the day, but none of the speeds was equal to those set yesterday by Wittman in his Oshkosh Chief, 600 horse power Curtiss D-12 engine, and Earl Ortman in his black Keith-Rider twin Wasp Jr. 800 horse power engine.

Wittman's lap trial for the Thompson was 275 miles an hour, and Ortman's was 269. Today the closest speed was that of Frank Sinclair, test pilot for the Seversky Airplane company flying a Seversky fighter-racer, which made 252.136 miles an hour.

Joe Mackey of Findlay, O., flying Roscoe Turner's Weddell-Williams racer, 800 horse power Hornet, flew the course at 246.145 miles an hour. Ray Moore of Los Angeles loafed around at 228.171 miles an hour in Frank Fuller's Seversky, 1,100 horse power twin Wasp.

Contest in Second Heat.

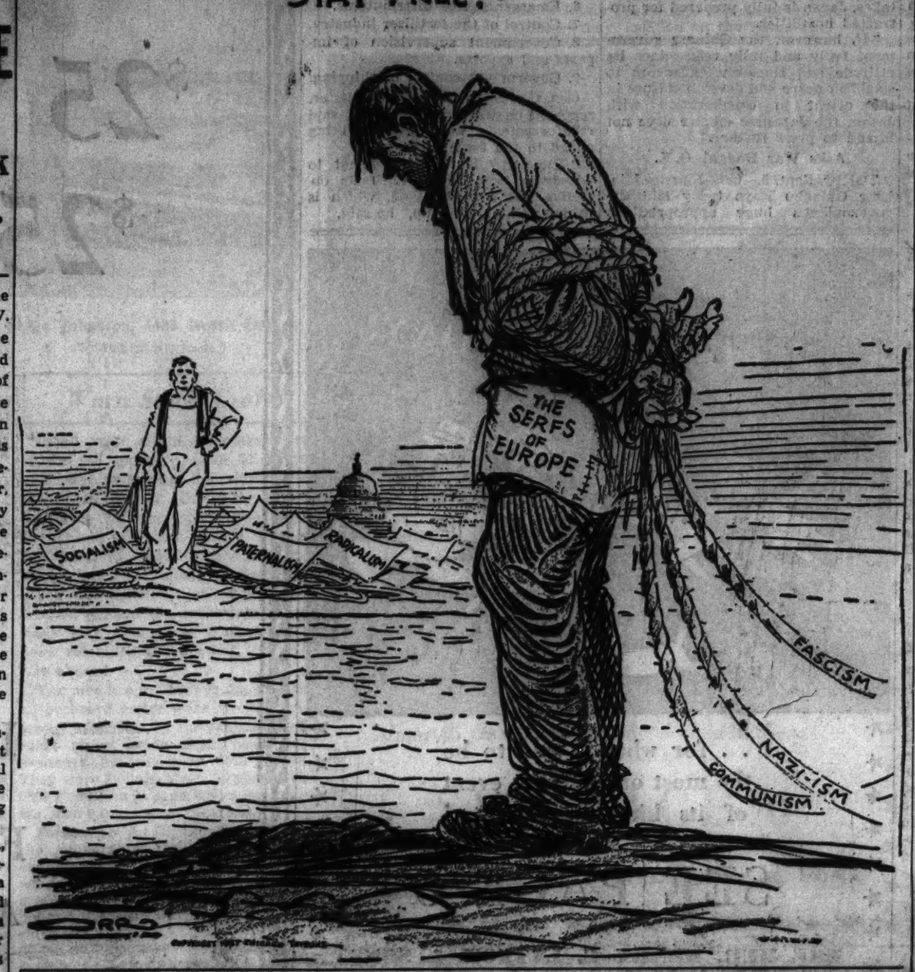
Then in the two qualifying Thompson races Ortman, Mackey, and Sinclair virtually equaled these speeds for 50 miles around the 10 mile quadrangular course. Sinclair won the first heat at 242.082; Roger Don Rae of Detroit in a Folkert's special, Menasco C4S, 150 horse power, was second at 174 miles an hour, and Marion McKeen, flying a Brown racer, Menasco 6, was third with 164.

The second heat produced a hotly contested race between Ortman and Mackey. Ortman, away first, barely held his lead throughout, managing to finish with an average of 247.975 miles an hour. Mackey's time was 247.029. Gotch was third at 223.480 miles an hour.

Rigs Up Own Gas Chamber to Die While He's Asleep

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Carl B. Yeargin, a machinist, placed a bowl of sulphuric acid on the floor and attached a container of cyanide to an alarm clock so it would spill into the acid at 2 a. m. today. His death by gas resulted in his sleep.

A MESSAGE TO AMERICAN LABOR



Bella Stoops, but She Does Not Conquer

THE CAST.

MRS. BELLA BUTMAN, lady truck driver and co-author and principal heiress [until the law caught up with her] of the posthumous $150,000 will of James Thomas Kelly, the flophouse miser.

MRS. JOHANNA MOOK, a motorist.

Twenty-three policemen.

Mrs. Mook was in her car and her car was stuck in a mud puddle several weeks ago, as she tells her part of the story, when Mrs. Butman drove up in her truck to ask if she could be of any assistance. Mrs. Mook said it would be nice if Mrs. Butman would push her out of the mud.

Bella Butman.

Mrs. Butman said she'd love to—for $2. But as Mrs. Mook had only $1, Mrs. Butman was driving off when Mrs. Mook remembered her wrist watch. She would give it as security, she said. Mrs. Butman could push her out, and then Mrs. Mook would drive over later from her home at 4452 Merrimac avenue to redeem it for the $2 good Samaritan fee.

Watches Watch Disappear.

Mrs. Butman took the watch, smiled, and drove away, leaving its owner still stuck in the mud. Mrs. Mook eventually got out and told the police, but they never could find Mrs. Butman at home to arrest her.

When three policemen went over to Mrs. Butman's home at 6743 Irving Park boulevard yesterday to try again, they say she slammed the door in their faces with the observation that they were rather nosy gentlemen at best who would go back to the station with daylight through them if she once began shooting.

They telephoned Sergt. Edward Corda of the Irving Park station for reënforcements and he sent Sergt. Michael Noonan over in command of 19 more policemen. Noonan's force surrounded the house and called upon Mrs. Butman to come out. When she didn't, Sergt. Noonan boldly rapped on the door, but no one answered.

Listen! What's That?

Hearing a noise under the front porch, Noonan suspected that Bella had crawled under and boarded up the place. An old acquaintance with whom Mrs. Butman usually deals when brought into the station for this or that, he called out:

"Bella?"

"That you, Mike?" replied Mrs. Butman. "I'll come out for you, but not for those other, ah, gentlemen."

She tried, indeed, but being slightly wider than the porch, or the part of the porch under which she had taken refuge, she became wedged in while backing out, and Sergt. Noonan was compelled to extricate her with the greatest delicacy possible under the circumstances.

Well, Judge, You See——

He took her over to the station and locked her up. Tomorrow she will get to tell the judge her story about the mud puddle, the watch, and the 73 policemen.

The last time she told one to the judge, it was about the flophouse miser's will, which she was accused of helping to draw up in her favor after he died in her home. The judge sent her to jail for that.

IRMA TELLS CANDY STORE ROBBER 'NO!' AND SHE MEANS IT

Mrs. Irma Boness just said "No!" when a bandit ordered her to open the cash drawer last night in the candy store she manages at 2742 North Clark street. She meant what she said, and the bandit didn't know how to open it, so he missed $50.

When he ordered her to show him the safe she told him there wasn't any and that he'd better put his gun in his pocket and get out before a policeman caught him. He couldn't frighten her by threatening to shoot her, but he finally did push her into the back room and lock her up.

Then he found there was a safe and that it was open, and took about $50 from it. Mrs. Boness released herself, called the police, locked the store, and happy over saving half her boss' money, went home to 2235 Magnolia avenue, where she has two children who ought to know it is final when she says "No!"

Poorly Cooked Duck Eggs Blamed for Berlin Epidemic

[Copyright, 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—An epidemic of enteritis, or inflammation of the intestines, has been traced to duck eggs. The eggs caused many cases here because they were insufficiently cooked. The ministry of the interior today issued a warning to cook such eggs at least eight minutes. Storekeepers were ordered to stamp such eggs: "Duck eggs must be cooked."

Firemen Climb 17 Floors to Fight Fire in Hotel

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A fire today paralyzed elevator service in the Statler hotel and caused damage of $2,000. Firemen had to climb seventeen flights of stairs to reach the blaze.

Nitrogen Split in 2 Parts by Nobel Scholar

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two new kinds of nitrogen, made by a new process of tapping the greatest untouched source of the world's chemical wealth, known as the isotopes, were announced here today by Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner in chemistry, to the American Chemical society.

Dr. Harold Urey.

Nitrogen is important in explosives, dyes, albuminous food, and forms 80 per cent of the air. Ordinary nitrogen is composed of two kinds, heavy and light. The heavy stuff is rare, only .38 of 1 per cent existing in ordinary nitrogen.

Dr. Urey has separated the two in tangible amounts for the first time. He is manufacturing daily at Columbia university about one-third of a pint of the heavy nitrogen gas. This is a thousand times more than any previous rate of "separation."

The Elements Divided.

There are only 92 chemical elements. They are the basis of all chemistry, the building blocks of all common as well as new "miracle" products. But in these 92 there are 250 "isotopes." Isotopes are atoms of the same chemical, but having different atomic weights. The weights of the new nitrogen are 14 and 15. Dr. Urey's new heavy nitrogen has an atomic weight of 15.

Dr. Urey has announced also the beginning of a successful method to separate the three different kinds of potassium, a metal important to life and particularly to the action of the human heart. The new heavy potassium has a weight combining the previously known 40 and 41. Potassium also has a weight of 39.

The 250 isotopes of the 92 elements include not only twin and triplet substances, as the nitrogen and potassium, but in some cases quintuplets and even octuplets and decuplets. Tin is one of the latter, having eight to ten isotopes.

Gives Enough to Experiment.

Dr. Urey's work now gives science for the first time enough heavy nitrogen to experiment. Whether it would make "delayed dynamite," something exploding a little slower than at present, or be useful in dyes or in making artificial air to breathe

Trafic Deaths Mark Start of Labor Holiday

Massacre Widow

On the back page will be found an unusual picture of death on the highway. It shows a grief-stricken young woman being shielded from the body of her husband, who has just been killed by another motorist. The picture was sent to The Tribune by A. P. Wirephoto. The tragedy occurred in New York City.

Death and injury began their holiday parade in Chicagoland yesterday as motorists took to the roads for Labor day outings today. A husband and his wife were killed and nine persons were injured in two of the major accidents.

Throughout the nation Labor day accidents took a toll of at least 140 lives up to midnight last night. Of these 111 deaths were caused by automobiles in thirty-two states. Michigan led the list with fourteen. Four persons were drowned, and five others died in plane crashes. The twenty other fatalities resulted from miscellaneous accidents.

Because of the cool weather, highways were not heavily crowded yesterday. Today, however, with no central celebration or parade planned in Chicago, the roads are expected to be jammed, and police urged drivers to exercise utmost care to prevent accidents.

The day in Chicago will be observed by radio programs dedicated to labor and by special park concerts and other events.

Avoids Hitting Train.

The nine persons injured in one of the accidents escaped death when the driver of the automobile in which they were riding plunged the car into a ditch to avoid hitting a Grand Trunk freight train at 87th street and Central Park avenue. The car struck the railroad signal light post, overturned twice, and caught fire. Motorists pulled the occupants from the flaming wreckage before they were burned, although the car was destroyed.

The nine were Andrew Solis of 88th street and 56th avenue, Oak Lawn, the driver, his two children, Marilyn, 5, and Andrew Jr., 4; Mrs. Adeline Ryzenga of 7240 Sangamon street, her daughter, Catherine, 6; Mrs. Helen Chor of 1730 North Keating avenue, her daughter, Rose; Miss Minnie Anderson of 1730 North Keating avenue, and Peter Pokryzywa of 2451 Thomas street. They were taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital.

Husband and Wife Killed.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Harold Castle, 920 North Wells street, was burned to death and her husband was fatally injured when a car in which they were riding struck another machine at 67th street and Pulaski road, careened into a post and burned. Walter Alschlager of 1720 Vine street, the driver, was being held at the Bridewell hospital yesterday on the charge of driving through a stop signal. He and five others were hurt in the accident.

Alschlager was driving an automobile owned by the Wagner-Fagan

8,000 REMAIN AT THEIR OWN RISK, SAYS ROOSEVELT

U. S. Will Not Fight to Protect Them.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Block Island, R. I., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Nearly 8,000 American citizens, scattered throughout China, are remaining in that war-torn country at their risk, President Roosevelt declared today. All have been urged strongly to leave, the President said at a press conference aboard his yacht Potomac, which was confined by rough weather to the harbor here today.

A large majority of the Americans, most of them missionaries and teachers, have declined to leave their posts, Mr. Roosevelt revealed. If they come to harm, as a result, he indicated, the fault is theirs. By refusing to leave they have forsaken the protection of the American government.

No dead line has been set by the state department for departure of these individuals because there is a possibility that a number, because of the vast distances and poor travel facilities in China, have not been able to reach an evacuation port.

No Intent to Leave.

The fact remains that most of them have no intention of leaving and it is to these persons the President voiced his warning.

In an unusually confidential mood, the President discussed the Chinese-Japanese feud with reporters, characterizing it as an awful mess. His mind is troubled over invocation of the neutrality act. Reluctant to proclaim that a state of war exists between the two nations because of several practical considerations, his decision of this problem remains on a 24 hour basis, he said.

As previously outlined by the state department, the main reason the President hesitates to enforce the neutrality act is the presence of marines in Shanghai and Peking and an army regiment at Tientsin. A declaration of American neutrality when American troops are in one of the warring countries and American naval vessels in port seems absurd to Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers.

Next Outbreak a Puzzle.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that nobody knows where the next outburst of hostilities may occur. In any case, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that the United States is not to be provoked into a quarrel with either country because of harm to any of the 7,780 Americans who insist upon remaining in China.

Decision concerning his contemplated trip to the west coast also awaits developments in the far east, the President said. He confessed himself annoyed by reports that the journey, if made, would be a speech making expedition. There would be very little politics on the trip, he insisted. He would speak a few words here and there, but that was all.

The prime purpose of the journey is to gather information and to see his grandchildren; Curtis and Eleanor Dall, in Seattle, he said. He has not seen them for almost a year.

Laughs at Lewis Demand.

Mr. Roosevelt laughed and refused comment when asked about the Friday night speech of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. leader, who insisted that the President take the side of labor in industrial disputes.

A terrific electrical thunderstorm drove the presidential yacht to shelter here last night. There was some alarm as lightning crackled about the ships huddled in the harbor lest a bolt strike the Potomac. Storm signals remained hoisted today and the President was forced to forego any attempt at fishing. He hoped that the weather would have abated by tomorrow, permitting him to set out on the cruise back to his Hudson river home.

JAPS OPEN "BIG PUSH"

SHANGHAI, Sept. 6 [Monday].—(AP)—The Japanese war machine launched its long expected major offensive at dawn today, turning the full strength of its land, air, and naval forces against Chinese throughout the Shanghai battle area.

The combined attack began at Woosung, ten miles down the Whangpoo river at its juncture with the mighty Yangtse.

The Japanese flagship, the cruiser Idzumo, joined in the attack, hastily pulling from its anchorage near the American cruiser Augusta off the international settlement and heading downstream under forced draft.

The Idzumo took up its new position at Jukong wharf, midway between Woosung and Shanghai, to lead the naval attack while twenty Japanese planes swept over Chinese positions inland to drop their bombs.

At the same time an artillery battle began between Chinese guns in Kiangwan and Japanese batteries in Yangtzepoo. The reverberations of the artillery fire rocked the city of Shanghai.

Chinese, with a possible 200,000 men available in the Shanghai sector, were reported rushing four new divisions to meet the Japanese attack. Well entrenched, the Chinese appeared to be holding their own after seven hours of battle.

Beggars and Refugees Die.

Heavy fighting progressed all along the Whangpoo, and there was a steady roar of explosive air bombs, machine gun bullets, land and naval artillery.

The Japanese planes concentrated bombing attacks on Jessfield park station of the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad, on the western outskirts of Shanghai, adding another heavy toll of life among Chinese civilians to yesterday's air bombings.

Japanese planes also attacked Siccawei, adjoining the French concession, the Hungjao area, and Kiangwan.

Seven Japanese destroyers moved a mile below Point Island shortly after 10 a. m., and there had an unobstructed field for shelling Kiangwan.

The new offensive came on the heels of a blockade which the Japanese navy clamped on Chinese shipping along the whole length of China's 2,150 mile coastline.

Tsingtao, principal port of Shantung province, and the territories of neutral powers were exempted. Thus it will not be enforced with respect to British Hongkong, Portuguese Macao or the French leasehold of Kwangchowwan, below Hongkong.

Bombard Coast Points.

Japanese naval leaders here and in Tokio announced that the peaceful commerce of other powers will be treated "with due respect."

Although the previous blockade was ostensibly against only Chinese government and private shipping, Japanese naval officers have said they might exercise the right to stop neutral vessels and "preempt" cargoes of war supplies intended for China.

Chinese declared the Japanese warships and planes had started a campaign of terror along the south China coasts, attacking small native craft wherever they encountered them and burning many.

Swabue, 85 miles northeast of Hongkong, was bombarded from the sea.

Fighting yesterday in Shanghai claimed at least 200 noncombatant victims, all of them Chinese, slain in terrific Japanese air bombings of areas at the doors of the international settlement.

JAPS SINK CUSTOMS BOAT

HONGKONG, Sept. 6 [Monday].—(AP)—A Japanese destroyer was reported today to have sunk a Chinese customs launch after entering the waters of this British crown colony to cut off the vessel's retreat.

Before the shelling began two foreign officers commanding the launch that was sunk and a companion vessel were put ashore in river sampans. Collection of Chinese customs is supervised by foreigners, and much of the receipts are pledged to pay off British loans.

The attack was only one of a series against Chinese south coastal cities, apparently made in an effort to block the landing of war supplies. Chekwan, northwest of Hongkong, is reported to have been receiving large quantities of war stores during the last few days.

Jap Cruiser Bombards City.

The Japanese Cruiser, the Hayata, bombarded the city at dawn. Amoy, important coastal city of Fukien province, also was raided. There has been no communication from Pratas Island, the Chinese maritime customs base 180 miles south of here, since Sept. 4. It is believed to have been captured by the Japanese as a base for their South China operations. All Chinese ships were reported being halted and searched.

Well informed persons here declared that British and American nationals at Amoy were preparing for immediate evacuation. The United States patrol ship Tulsa is standing by in Amoy harbor to protect American interests, while the British destroyer Diamond is rushing to Amoy to protect British citizens.

A Japanese destroyer flotilla is reported blockading the entrance to Pearl river, and belated advices state the Japanese on Friday shelled Sanwei, Houmen, and Makung, between Swatow and Hongkong.

Assisted by two airplanes, the Japanese were said to have attempted to land bluejackets at Sanwei, but were beaten off.

JAPS TO SMASH CHINESE ARMY, PREMIER WARNS

Prepared for Long Fight, He Tells Parliament.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—Japan's determination to shatter the Chinese army was reiterated by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe in a speech to the diet [parliament] today.

"The sole measure for the Japanese empire to adopt is to administer a thoroughgoing blow to the Chinese army so that it will lose completely its will to fight," Konoe said. "If China fails to realize its mistakes, Japan is fully prepared for protracted hostilities.

"If, however, the Chinese government truly and fully reëxamines its attitude and sincerely endeavors to establish peace and develop culture in the orient in collaboration with Japan, the Japanese empire does not intend to press further."

Asks War Budget O. K.

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Finance Minister Okinobu Kaya today laid the government's huge appropriations for the war in China before the extraordinary "war session" of parliament and asked approval.

He presented a supplementary budget totaling $662,000,000, which will bring the empire's war bill up to $737,000,000.

Opening of interpellations showed members of the lower house anxious about the capacity of the country to digest the huge bond issues necessary to finance the campaigns in China without dangerous inflation.

Calls for Control of Capital.

The finance minister declared the government would do all it could to prevent a rise in price levels. He told the house of representatives he was unable to say whether bond issues or higher taxes would supply most of the necessary funds for the China conflict.

The government introduced nine bills, providing:

1. For issuance of bonds to cover military expenditures.
2. For special military accounts.
3. Exemption from taxation of men serving at the front.
4. Government control and adjustment of capital and funds.
5. Amendment of the foreign exchange law.

"The army is determined not to withdraw from China until its objective has been attained, which is to make China wake up," he said.

Speed Repairs on Flying Boat, Damaged in Landing

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The Imperial Airways' eighteen ton flying boat Cambria, which lost a pontoon in landing on Lake Ontario last Friday, is expected to be ready shortly to resume its place in the new trans-Atlantic service. Crews are now replacing the pontoon and making other repairs on the huge ship, which met with the accident just after completing its third Atlantic crossing. When the left pontoon came off the crew climbed out of the cabin and clambered to the tip of the right wing to balance the plane and prevent its going over. It was believed the pontoon struck a submerged log.

Policeman Dies of Injuries Received Two Years Ago

Park Policeman Harry Zink, 37 years old, 7915 Wabash avenue, died last night in the County hospital of an old spinal injury. He fell from a ladder two years ago while doing some repair work at home. He apparently recovered, but about three weeks ago numbness attacked his legs. This was traced to the two year old spinal injury, the exact nature of which had not been discovered in previous X-ray photographs. Zink's widow, Maybella, and a daughter survive.

SHIP IS SLOWED FOR OPERATION ON F. H. SCOTT'S SON

Student Is Recovering in Philadelphia Hospital.

Hoboken, N. J., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The S. S. Statendam slowed down for twenty minutes in a calm sea while five surgeons gathered around Edward W. Scott of Chicago to perform an emergency mastoid operation, believed to be the first ever attempted on a trans-Atlantic vessel. The story was told today when the Statendam reached this port.

Edward W. Scott.

Scott, 21 years old, son of Frederick H. Scott, vice president of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Chicago department store, had been touring Europe with a party of Princeton undergraduates. His ear began to bother him in Rotterdam, and he had it treated in Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany, and England. When he boarded the liner Aug. 21 he believed it was cured.

Operation Is Emergency.

After he had been at sea for a week the ear suddenly pained him again. Dr. Thomas N. Cassidy, ship's surgeon, examined him and decided he must be operated upon at once.

The passenger list disclosed four other surgeons aboard, three of them, Dr. George W. Mackenzie, staf surgeon at St. Luke's hospital, Philadelphia, and Dr. Homes L. Hiles of Pittsburgh and Dr. Harold Wadsworth of Joliet, Ill., eye, ear, nose and throat specialists returning from post-graduate study in Vienna. The four, including also Dr. J. E. Harris of Sarasota, Fla., were called into consultation and confirmed Dr. Cassidy's diagnosis.

New Instruments Available.

Without delay the operation was begun with a set of instruments newly purchased by Dr. Wadsworth, while the ship's engines were throttled to slow speed. Dr. Mackenzie, long an expert in eye, ear, nose, and throat surgery, was in charge.

Scott's parents took him to a Philadelphia hospital today.

NITROGEN SPLIT IN TWO PARTS BY NOBEL SCHOLAR

Heavy Water's Finder Succeeds Again.

is something for future industrialists to investigate.

But at Columbia one immediate practical use has been found. The heavy nitrogen shows how food containing nitrogen distributes not only in the digestive tract, but afterward can be traced through the tissues.

By feeding the heavy nitrogen to rats, one digestive puzzle already has been answered. It has been discovered that hippuric acid, a common ingredient in plant food, passes directly through the walls of the intestines into the blood. The atoms of the heavier isotopes now can be tagged and watched like tracer bullets, and their courses in the human system mapped.

None of this vast "isotope" storehouse of wealth has been available to man. Dr. Urey himself several years ago tapped the "treasury" for the first time by discovering a heavy hydrogen, now known as "heavy water." For this he received the Nobel prize.

It has heretofore been impossible to isolate the heavy nitrogen component. Prof. Urey and his associates worked two years before they were able to make their ingenious system of separation work.

Six hundred thousand dollars a pound is the cost of making it, and Columbia university is giving it away to experimenters. It would take one year to make a pound.

Young Chicago Fisherman Drowns in Pistakee Lake

Falling from a boat while fishing in Pistakee lake, northwest of McHenry, Eugene Kempski, 16 years old, of Chicago, drowned yesterday. Authorities were told he lived on Crystal street, but were unable to learn his exact address.

JUNKMAN FOUND DEAD IN BARN.

Samuel Levin, 48 years old, 1330 North Artesian avenue, a junkman, was found dead, apparently from swallowing poison last night in a barn at the rear of 1215 North Rockwell street, where he kept his horse and wagon.

Warn Small Craft

Small craft storm warnings were issued for southern Lake Michigan yesterday following the sinking of the cabin cruiser, Dolly N, owned by Irving Netcher, State street merchant and husband of the former Roszika Dolly. Mr. Netcher said the boat slipped its moorings Saturday night during the high winds and crashed against the breakwater near Navy pier, sinking so that only its prow remained above water. No one was aboard.

Two men in a rowboat equipped with an outboard motor were rescued yesterday afternoon by the Jackson park coast guard when their boat was swamped by waves off 95th street. They were Donald Myer, 26 years old, 5809 Princeton avenue, and a companion, who name was not learned.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd predicted the temperature would be about 70 degrees today. Yesterday brisk gusty winds from the northeast, reaching a velocity of twenty-five miles an hour, caused the warning of possible storms.

3 SOVIET COOKS SHOT FOR SERVING POISONED PORK

7 Others Executed for Wrecking Farms.

MOSCOW, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Firing squads today wiped out ten more Russians convicted of being enemies of the soviet régime.

Among the ten were three restaurant cooks from Leningrad province accused of serving spoiled pork. It was charged that fifteen persons were poisoned by eating pork cutlets served with what the court called "willful counter revolutionary intentions" during the recent Leningrad anti-air raid drills.

The other seven executed at Leningrad were said to have confessed they were "rightist wreckers" in collective farming projects at Novgorod.

Get 10 Year Sentences.

Two persons were given ten year prison sentences and had their property confiscated for similar offenses.

Another trial of alleged anti-soviet plotters was going on at Ordjonikidze in the Caucasus region, where seven persons were shot Sept. 1.

Ten defendants were said to have confessed they armed peasants ostensibly for defense in case of war but actually for rebellion against the communist government, with the idea of restoring capitalism.

As in other trials, charges against the defendants included "wrecking" collective farming by hampering cattle breeding, damaging machinery, and distributing seditious pamphlets among farmers.

Wear Masks at Work.

Recent air defense drills in Leningrad, which more than any other soviet city fears sudden attack in case of another war, caused residents to go around for five days with gas masks on their faces.

They wore masks to their work in factories, offices, in the streets, and in street cars in one of the most elaborate drills in war fearing Europe.

Leningrad, more than Moscow, is exposed to attack by a foreign foe, particularly Germany, military experts say, because of its geographical location on the Baltic sea.

GREEN ASSAILS LEWIS' ATTACK ON ROOSEVELT

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 5.—(AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor tonight assailed John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. for his attack on President Roosevelt.

Speaking at a banquet of Texas labor leaders, Green cried:

"He denounced in autocratic and dictatorial terms the greatest friend of labor who ever has sat in the White House. The enemies the President has made were made because of the devoted way in which he stood for labor.

"Yet he denounced Franklin Roosevelt because he didn't do what he wished him to do.

"I resent it. I resent it emphatically in the name of millions of people who are the laborers of this nation."

The A. F. L. chief declared that "only an enemy would seek to divide and conquer where the chief asset of organized labor always had been unity and solidarity.

"We have pleaded with them to come back. If there is no response, then the responsibility for division must necessarily rest where it belongs."

QUESTION: WILL IT BE 3D TERM OR THIRD PARTY?

Lewis Merely Bluffing, Leaders Believe.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis' fulminations against President Roosevelt and Democratic leaders in congress have intensified political speculation regarding 1940, until the paramount question in Washington today is: What will be attempted, a third term or a third party?

The consensus of political experts is that there will be no third party movement if Mr. Roosevelt seeks a third term—a possibility from which he steadfastly has refused to cut himself loose.

On the other hand, if Mr. Roosevelt should not choose to defy the precedent set by George Washington against third terms, the field would be thrown open for a free for all scramble and Lewis' third party threat might very well materialize, in the present opinion of political leaders.

Will Party Lines Hold?

They believe that Mr. Roosevelt alone could hold together any substantial part of the diverse following which gave him 60.7 per cent of the total vote in 1936.

Even the President, it appears, cannot hold in line the conservative southerners and the constitutional liberals of the west who broke with him on the project to pack the Supreme court. He, in fact, has indicated a determination to purge the party of these elements.

Alibi for Loss of Strike.

For this reason it is believed that Lewis' mutterings about a new alliance with the farmers—which with the communists, socialists and other left-wingers would form a popular front party—will depend entirely on what the President does in 1940. Lewis at present is suspected of bluffing—giving an alibi for his loss of the "little steel" strike—when he assaults the Roosevelt administration.

The administration's support of the C. I. O. in both the automobile and steel strikes was patent—Democrats in congress called it a conspiracy—and Mr. Roosevelt's National Labor Relations board still favors the C. I. O. at every opportunity.

Favors La Follette Candidacy.

While refusing to eliminate himself from the third term field, President Roosevelt recently let it be known in an offhand personal talk with some of his political intimates that if he had to choose among his possible successors he would be inclined toward Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. of Wisconsin. La Follette formerly was denominated as a Republican, but was favored by President Roosevelt over the Democratic candidate for the senate.

La Follette, who is 42 years old and a crusading radical, is regarded by administration leaders as the outstanding exponent of President Roosevelt's social and economic philosophy.

Favored in High Quarters.

La Follette also is favored, in the event that Mr. Roosevelt should not be a candidate, by such administration leaders as Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior; Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, and Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, although Wallace himself is credited with presidential aspirations.

The linking of the President's name with La Follette as presidential nominee is significant in that it indicates a desire on Mr. Roosevelt's part to break completely away from the conservative wing of his party and rely altogether upon the so-called Progressives and radicals. The question is, on what ticket would La Follette be nominated?

Dahlia Wins Three Blue Ribbons

Miss Marjorie Coupe of Park Ridge poses with a dahlia of the cactus type which won three blue ribbons for W. E. Saunders of Brookfield at the Men's Garden club show in Garfield park conservatory.

Thousands Attend

Thousands of visitors thronged the Garfield park conservatory yesterday for the annual Men's Garden club flower exhibit. The show will end tomorrow. The conservatory is open from 8 a. m. until 10 p. m. during the exhibit.

More than 10,000 blossoms, including 230 classes of flowers, are displayed in the show. The flowers include dahlias, astors, gladioli, delphiniums, and water lilies. A feature of the show Saturday was a large lavender dahlia, the Bette Davis, grown by W. E. Saunders of Brookfield, which won three prizes. Prizes also were awarded for the winners in the other varieties of blossoms.

M. D. White of Winnetka is president of the club.

BUTLER CALLS MAJOR POLITICAL PARTIES 'WRECKS'

Educator Suggests New Alignment of Voters.

Southampton, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(F)—Asserting that the historic American political parties "are completely wrecked," Nicholas Murray Butler today suggested the realignment of American voters into two new parties according to whether they want to solve economic and labor problems by "liberal," or "radical" methods.

The president of Columbia university made the recommendations in his annual speech at the Parrish Art museum.

"The one party, which might be called constitutional liberal, would aim to deal with economic questions and to solve economic problems as they arise in a spirit of liberal, forward-facing and constructive statesmanship, but within the limits of the principles underlying the constitution of the United States and its classic bill of rights," he said.

"The opposition party, which probably would wish to be called progressive, should properly be designated as reactionary radical, since it would, on the other hand, proceed to deal with the economic questions of the time without any restriction whatever arising from the American form of government.

"At the present time both of the historic American parties are completely wrecked by reason of the fact that the commanding industrial problem cannot be fitted into either of their traditional programs, and, as a matter of fact, it divides their membership from top to bottom.

"Were the American people to organize themselves into two such new parties, the air would be quickly cleared of many misconceptions and the public soon would come to understand the fundamental differences of thought and policy that were involved in the party contest.

"In a democracy there is no place for a Labor party any more than for a bankers' party or a farmers' party or a school teachers' party or a party bearing the name and trying to serve the interests of any other special economic or social group."

Reviewing recent labor troubles and their treatment, Dr. Butler said:

"The development of collective bargaining is sound and its results admirable if it is participated in by those and only those—or their chosen representatives—who are affected by its results.

"No wage worker should be compelled to join in collective bargaining if he does not wish to do so.

"That is why the so-called closed shop is not only undesirable, but highly inconsistent with any doctrine of personal or economic liberty.

"There is no more reason why a citizen of the United States should be required, in order to find opportunity for employment, to enroll himself as a member of a trade union than why he should be compelled to join a given political party."

TRACE CRIMINAL RECORD OF THIEF SLAIN IN FLIGHT

Police found upon investigation yesterday that Lou Vine, 27 years old, a former professional pugilist who was killed early yesterday morning while fleeing a robbery, was not a parolee, as was first reported. He did have a minor criminal record. He served a short sentence in the Erideswell for larceny when only 15 years old, and later was arrested in Indiana for an automobile theft.

Policeman Albion Jones of the Des Plaines street station shot Vine to death after the ex-boxer had held up George Springer, 1652 Monroe street, near Madison and Loomis streets. Martin Tyndale, 19 years old, of 326 South Winchester avenue, told police Vine had invited him to join in the robbery to get money for liquor.

Springer was robbed of a purse containing $18 which Vine threw to the ground in his flight. Lieut. Albert Hoffman of the Des Plaines station was slightly injured when the squad car rolled over a curb in the chase.

Vine was married and the father of three children.

WOMAN YIELDS TRAFIC LANE AND WINS $5 PRIZE

Driver Quick to Pull Over and Let Car Pass.

BY HAL FOUST.

Miss Ellen Johnson, 57 years old, 543 Chestnut street, Winnetka, was yesterday's recipient of $5 awarded daily by THE TRIBUNE to some motorist for politeness . . trafic. Her coupe was overtaken by the courtesy scout in Bryn Mawr avenue west of Sheridan road. She passed the test predetermined for this day's survey.

Miss Johnson was driving about 15 miles an hour near the center of the wide pavement. There was a reason for her caution: a crowd was leaving a nearby church. The reporter tapped his horn experimentally. She responded promptly, pulling to the right to allow THE TRIBUNE roadster free passage.

Men Drivers Fail in Test.

This may seem a trivial act to win public recognition and a small cash award. But if all motorists did likewise this detail of driving courtesy might enhance the pleasure and utility of car ownership in this metropolitan area, where much of the usage is in heavy trafic.

North bound in Leif Ericson drive, the scout car overtook a machine with license 534-756 [issued to Frank Garcia, 9022 Brandon avenue]. While followed for three miles from 55th street the driver tarried at 24 to 28 miles an hour on the 40 mile an hour thoroughfare, meandering from four to twelve feet from the right curb.

Horn Brings No Results.

On approaching the 23d street grade separation, while the Garcia car was far from the curb, the reporter sounded the horn without any results. On a second horn the driver, a man, extended his arm downward from the window in an improper signal for a right turn from the improper lane.

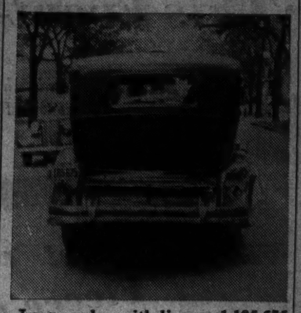
North bound in Sheridan road in Rogers Park the scout car overtook a large sedan with license 1-185-675 [issued to William F. Tieman, 2047 Bissell street]. It was riding the center lane and lagging behind the heavy flow of trafic. A blond young man at the wheel ignored several toots from a car behind him.

Coach No. 373 of the Northland Greyhound Lines was trailed from Pratt boulevard to Howard street. It traveled forty miles an hour, too fast to make the courtesy test and, incidentally, too fast for the speed regulations on the boulevard.

POLITENESS PAYS

(Story in adjoining column.)

Miss Ellen Johnson of Winnetka, whose courtesy to autoist traveling at faster rate won for her The Tribune's daily award of $5.



Large sedan with license 1,185,675 riding the center lane, northbound in Sheridan road in Rogers Park. It was lagging behind heavy flow of trafic. The driver ignored toots from car behind him.

a Labor Day message

THAT CONCERNS EVERY WORKER'S POCKET BOOK

THE SECRET OF EVERY WORKER'S HAPPINESS and well being lies not only in how he earns his money, but how he spends it. We, at Netcher's Boston Store, believe our duty is to help every wage earner in Chicago get the most for the money he or she spends. That's where a big store, with the big resources of Netcher's Boston Store comes into the picture. A friend of the thrifty . . . a bosom-pal of the not-so-big pocketbook . . . a source of top values that enables you to get the biggest money's worth in all the things you need.

OUR LABOR DAY MESSAGE IS A SIMPLE ONE. We could say it in words, but we prefer to say it with VALUES! So we have surrounded this page with values that speak for themselves . . . values that make every dollar do a big, hefty job.

BY KEEPING PRICES DOWN and by offering maximum values in this day of rising prices, Netcher's Boston Store believes it serves best the millions of wage earners who look to this big store for the answer to a brighter, broader, more contented way of living.

MOREOVER, the advantages of a credit policy with convenient Charge Accounts, Budget Plan and Netcher's Thrift Certificates make it so easy to satisfy your wants, however limited the family income.

THE "DOOR TO THRIFT" at Netcher's Boston Store is the doorway of opportunity. Enter it and SAVE! That, in short, is our message to every man and woman in Chicagoland who earns a living and wants his income to go farther.

LAKE CHAMPLAIN LEVEL CANADIAN, AMERICAN ISSUE

Agree on Sluiceways Out of River Outlet.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Lake Champlain is an international issue again, sixteen decades after Ethan Allen thundered at the doors of Ticonderoga.

Territory in dispute.

Canada and the United States have agreed on sluiceways in the outflowing Richelieu river, which would control the water level of the lake, and some Americans fear the Canadian project constitutes a threat to their darling of the Adirondacks.

Never, they say, shall a foreign though friendly power tamper with that glacial cradle of robust deed and legend.

Scene of Stirring Events.

It was the tempestuous Benedict Arnold who pitted a grim colonial navy against the formidable British flotilla. There Ethan Allen and his "Green Mountain boys" called on a redcoat garrison to "surrender in the name of the great Jehovah and the Continental Congress."

There trod the moccasined feet of James Fenimore Cooper's stalwart Uncas, "last of the Mohicans."

In the war of 1812 the Americans defeated the British there, and afterward the naval power of each on Champlain was limited by treaty to "one vessel not exceeding 100 tons burthen and armed with one 18 pound cannon."

Control Dam to Be Built.

In 1887 and again in 1902-'07 and 1914-'15 Canada negotiated in vain with the United States for protection of the shallow Richelieu against seasonal floods of Lake Champlain water. Now a control dam is to be constructed at Freyers Island, just about where the river starts dropping one foot a mile on its course to the St. Lawrence.

It was up this incline that Samuel De Champlain paddled with the Algonquins in 1609, to discover what he calls a "broadening of the river" 96 feet above sea level. This "broadening" was the lake.

Now some Americans are figuratively up in arms because they say the sluiceways will lower the lake level.

"We are making the lake a gift to Canada," railed John B. Burnham, valley resident.

Mary B. Cleland, defending family property gained in 1836, warned:

"We have been at war with Canada in the past, and we may be in times to come. . . . It seems very short sighted on the part of the United States to allow any other power to tamper with its natural resources."

None of these things will happen, assured the international joint commission in public hearings at St. Albans, Que., and at Montreal.

Seventeen miles of the lake lie in Canada. The remainer, a 130 mile ribbon of water varying from one-half mile to fifteen miles in width and sometimes 300 feet deep, forms the boundary between New York and Vermont.

It has the swift current and the high and low water marks of a large river.

Would Control Level.

Agriculture, navigation and recreation interests, said Chairman A. O. Stanley of the commission, agree that it is very desirable "that the present excessive variation in lake levels of approximately ten feet should be materially reduced, that floods should be prevented . . . by enlarging the channel capacity of the Richelieu and accelerating its runoff."

The normal lake level, he assured Rep. B. H. Snell [R., N. Y.], will remain constant.

Negotiations started by President Theodore Roosevelt and concluded by President Taft provide that neither country shall raise the water levels of the other when operating on boundary water. There is no law to prevent lowering.

Canada's promise, and an American engineer to be stationed at the Freyers island dam, stand as assurance Lake Champlain levels will not be reduced "below a state of nature."

AMNESIA VICTIM

A girl about 17 years old, leading a chow dog, asked Park Policeman Joseph Lang at North avenue and Lake Shore drive yesterday to help her get home. He discovered she apparently was a victim of amnesia, being unable to tell her name or address, and she was taken to the Hudson avenue station. The police kept the dog over night, sending the girl to the County hospital. The girl is five feet tall, weighs 115 pounds, and has brown hair and blue eyes. She was dressed in blue and wore spectacles. She made several pencil sketches of policemen which showed she had considerable talent.

TWO MORE DIE OF PARALYSIS; 11 NEW CASES

With 11 new cases of infantile paralysis reported in Chicago in the 24 hours ended at 9 a. m. yesterday, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said there is yet no way of telling when the schools may be opened. He vehemently denied that any time for the opening had been set.

The situation might improve sufficiently for the school term to begin in a week, he said, or the opening day may be delayed some time. Because the incubation period for the disease is about two weeks, the effect of the cooler weather cannot be determined immediately.

Cancel Children's Services.

Supporting Dr. Bundesen's plan to keep children out of crowds during the emergency, synagogs and temples affiliated with the board of Jewish education have canceled all children's services during the present Jewish holiday season. Some of the children affected by the cancelation have spent many hours during the summer preparing to take part in the services.

The Jewish board has closed all its weekday religious schools, whose pupils meet after public school hours.

Opening of the public schools at Kendallville, Ind., has been postponed from tomorrow until Sept. 13 as a precautionary measure.

Two Deaths Reported.

The new cases reported in Chicago yesterday were three fewer than on the preceding day. There were two deaths, the same number as the day before.

Meanwhile volunteers who have had infantile paralysis and recovered continued to visit the Samuel Deutsch Serum center at the Michael Reese hospital to give blood for the preparation of serum.

A survey yesterday showed that there are now between 110 and 115 cases of the disease in the city. Sixty patients are being cared for at the Municipal Contagious Disease hospital and 24 at the Cook County Contagious Disease hospital.

You wouldn't eat in TRIANGLES if you didn't like us and believe in us . . . but thousands of you DO eat with us . . . and I wouldn't lose those friendly friendships for worlds!

GESTURES OF FRIENDLINESS

By CALEB

CITY people who have never lived in a small town miss much of the neighborliness which is one of the common leavens of life for many millions in this broad land.

Chicagoans come and go. They enjoy their brief seasons of joy in personal and family triumphs, and they bow beneath recurring or occasional oppressive distresses. Yet their neighbors across the apartment hall or the narrow strip of greensward are unaware of it all—and unconcerned.

Many a man or woman in Chicago sits in a large restaurant or audience aware of an internal gnawing for which there seems no accounting. But there is an accounting. If the isolated individual could simply see a friendly smile of recognition on a face across the way and go and sit down with and talk to that smiling neighbor, the gnawing would be revealed to be simply a form of loneliness or nostalgia, a symptom of soul illness which comes from being alone among many people.

The world needs neighborliness. One of the nicest and most neighborly things I have ever seen in the city is the current garden contest of the "L" lines.

If you do not ride the "L," you should do so before the September contest concludes. And don't keep your nose buried in a two or three cent paper. Look out the windows! And in congested, built-up areas, where buildings abut the tracks, observe how very human persons like you, who dwell here, are reaching out in a gesture of friendliness which gives you and them at least a momentary communion through what is beautiful.

Window boxes, modest rock gardens, and elaborate roof plats are bedecked and trimmed and cultivated, not for the appreciative eye of the gardener alone, but for you, the "L" rider, to view. Gardens entered in the contest carry a large numbered placard in order that you may vote for any garden you believe to be appealing and beautiful.

Here is neighborliness in the great city—a reaching of hands, you might say, across the vast abysses which separate near-at-hand human beings one from another. We like to see neighborliness fostered, and we try to help it along in our own business.

DRIVE 'PIRATES' FROM HIGH SEAS, POWERS URGED

Britain, France Seek Curb on Submarines.

wash Italy of all blame for Mediterranean "piracy" while preventing France from reopening the frontier to loyalist Spain.

SECOND—Great Britain will take advantage of the forthcoming Mediterranean conference to maneuver for a restoration of the monarchy in Spain and push England's candidate for the throne, Don Juan, third son of the exiled monarch Alfonso XIII.

New Lease for Committee.

The purpose back of the British plan for policing the Mediterranean, according to Miss Tabouis, is to set up a new international mechanism which, though created at this conference, will thereafter be taken over by the London committee for nonintervention in Spain, giving that much abused group a new lease on life.

Miss Tabouis did not say, but implied that the nonintervention committee, thus rejuvenated, would grow into a collective authority which would take to itself the right of intervening in Spanish domestic politics to end the civil war.

The British, Miss Tabouis made plain, want Gen. Francisco Franco, chief of the rebel side, to win the war, but do not want him to remain as ruler of Spain, as he is considered too much under Italian influence. Hence, Don Juan, who was educated in the British navy, would be a loyal agent of the British government, since he would owe his throne to British money and diplomatic influence.

Needs Mussolini's Consent.

This view, which seems to be confirmed by many signs, throws new light on British policy with regard to Spain. England will not grant Gen. Franco belligerent rights and tries to limit the Italo-German support to him because Italy will not approve a restoration of the monarchy under Don Juan.

If Premier Mussolini finally accepts the British pretender, thus eliminating British fears that the Spanish peninsula will become a Fascist naval base, it is believed here that Gen. Franco will be given a free hand.

Leads Vets to Rally

William Singleton aboard Milwaukee railroad's "G. A. R. Special" in Chicago yesterday.

William Singleton, 102 years old, colored, a civil war militiaman, yesterday led the delegation of sixty-six New England veterans who stopped in Chicago en route to Madison, Wis., where the 71st national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will open tomorrow.

Sitting erect in the special train, a row of polished medals across his chest, the old man, who lives in New Haven, Conn., announced he never had yet missed a reunion. "And," he said, "I'll be at a dozen more!"

Less than 200 Attend.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Survivors from the decimated ranks of the "boys in blue" paid tribute today to the memory of the thousands for whom taps has been blown.

Fewer than 200 veterans of the civil war answered the roll call for the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. Total membership of the organization was 4,416 in 1936. From an original membership of 60,684 in 1880 the membership peak, 409,489, was reached in 1890. Death has cut this figure by thousands yearly ever since.

Their first thought was for comrades who have gone before, and the opening of the five day meeting was given entirely to religious and memorial services. The principal event was tonights' memorial ceremony.

LEADER REVIEWS NAZI GROUPS AT FOLK FESTIVAL

More than 400 German-Americans attended a folk festival yesterday at Harms park and heard Fritz Kuhn, national leader of the German-American People's party, also known as the American Nazis, denounce American critics of Adolf Hitler's government.

Kuhn called Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, Samuel Untermyer, New York lawyer and Jewish leader; Representative Samuel Dickstein of New York, and Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York poisoners of public opinion against Germans.

Nazi salutes were plentiful as Kuhn reviewed the uniformed men's, women's, and youths' divisions of the Chicago Volksbund, or People's party, but there was no disturbance.

Bandit Waits on Customers While Two Pals Rob Clerks

Three bandits, two of them masked, took $393 yesterday from the Royal Food market, 5138 Division street. The masked men forced James Mann and Otto Michaels, clerks, into a rear room and tied them hand and foot. During this time the unmasked man posed as a clerk, waiting on several customers.

THREATENS WIFE WITH SHOTGUN.

Walter Fredericks, 48 years old, 416 South Aberdeen street, was locked up in the Des Plaines street station yesterday after police seized him Saturday night when he threatened his wife, Marie, 34, with a shotgun.

SPANISH REBELS HOLD CATHEDRAL; FIGHT BESIEGERS

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The desperate rebel garrison in the Spanish town of Belchite took refuge in the cathedral today and held out stubbornly against masses of government troops storming that strategic point on the Aragon front.

Although the government has claimed the capture of Belchite in its campaign to break the rebel grip on Saragossa and northeast Spain, it was admitted that "small bands" of rebels still were fighting in the battered cathedral.

The besieged rebel garrison was in a situation something akin to the famed defenders of the Alcazar at Toledo, but the government maintained that this time there was no chance for relief.

The government said it has 80,000 men in the sector, completely encircling the cathedral and pushing on westward between Saragossa and Teruel.

New York Auditor Found Dead in Hotel Room

B. A. Chisholm, 75 years old, an auditor, whose home is at 5610 Post road, New York City, was found dead in bed at the Morrison hotel last night, a few hours after he had registered at the hotel. Dr. A. Saunders, house physician, examined him and said death was due to natural causes.

HITLER WILL LAY CORNER STONE OF BIG NAZI STADIUM

Thousands Pack City for Party Convention.

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Uniformed Nazis by hundreds of thousands thronged into ancient Nuremberg today for the annual National Socialist [Nazi] congress at which Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler will dedicate a huge stadium memorial to his regime.

The Fuehrer will lay the corner stone of the stadium, which will be the world's largest, designed to seat 310,000 persons. It is to be the permanent center for future party gatherings such as the congress that opens tomorrow.

Hitler to Make Nine Speeches.

Important pronouncements of Nazi policy were expected in Hitler's annual party message, to be read by his deputy, Rudolf Hess, either tomorrow or Tuesday, and from the nine speeches he is to make.

The memorial stadium is but one unit of a huge layout of structures planned for completion in 1945, on the tenth anniversary of Hitler's rise to power. The Reichsfuehrer hopes such buildings will perpetuate his memory. To Nuremberg went the principal memorial because of the city's early sympathy with the Nazi cause.

The party grounds, four miles long and a mile and a half wide, will have ten assembly places to accommodate the thousands who march and listen during the party congresses each year.

Highway Leads Across Lake.

A main highway three miles long is being built through the grounds, across a lake and leading to the horseshoe shaped congress hall being built to provide a meeting place for 50,000 persons.

Steps are ranged along each side of the highway so that spectators can get a clear view of Hitler when he marches to the convention.

BALBO SPEAKS TO ITALIAN DAY CROWD BY RADIO

A voice from Tripoli and an amphora [antique two handled jar] of water from Venice were tokens of the friendship between Chicago and Italy yesterday as more than 10,000 persons attended charter jubilee Italian day ceremonies in Burnham park.

The voice was that of Italo Balbo, governor of Tripoli, who expressed by radio his admiration for Chicago and his appreciation of the welcome he received when he led an armada of Italian flyers to A Century of Progress in 1933. Speakers who appeared in person were Mayor Kelly and Franco Fontana, Italian consul general in Chicago.

Orchestral and vocal music, aquatic sport demonstrations, a water ballet, and fireworks completed the program. The water from Venice was poured into the Lake Michigan lagoon after a reenactment of a Venetian pageant, "The Wedding of the Waters," an annual ceremony in the days of the Doges.

NAZI ARRESTS OF FOES IN CHURCH FEUD RISE TO 105

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—Members of the Confessional [Evangelical] Lutheran church today were informed that 105 members of the church are now under arrest, that thirty-four pastors have been removed from their parishes and that twenty-seven have been forbidden to preach. The Rev. Dr. Otto Dibelius, prominent leader, who had been under temporary arrest, has been released.

A declaration read in a majority of the Confessional churches reviewed measures taken by the state concerning the church and asserted:

"Attempts have been made to destroy the church through innumerable laws, orders and drastic measures. The churches render to public authorities what is due them and everyone should serve them with deference. But where they intrude in matters foreign to them we cannot obey them."

FIREMEN FROM 5 STATES COMPETE IN TOURNAMENT

Volunteer teams from nineteen fire departments in five states scaled walls, made thrilling rescues, and fought water fights yesterday before a crowd of 35,000 on the first day of the National fire fighters' tournament at Soldiers' field. Professional teams will take the field for similar contests this afternoon. All winners will be announced at a banquet at the Hotel Sherman tonight.

A parade led by the Chicago fire department's drill team of 145 opened the tournament yesterday. Fire fighting equipment used in the great fire of 1871 contrasted with modern aerial ladders, smoke ejectors, and turret type water tower.

Woman's Girdle Puts Prowler In a Very Tight Spot Indeed

Surprised in a woman's clothes closet just after he had dressed himself in feminine underclothing, John Burgan, 38 years old, a battery company employe, was looked up at the Summerdale police station yesterday for questioning as a sex crime suspect.

John Burgan wearing fur trimmed dress.

About noon yesterday Mrs. Jennie Ahlstrom, 5059 North Ashland avenue, went to the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Ahlstrom, at 4958 North Damen avenue, to get some clothes for her granddaughter, Jean. Jean had been left in the grandmother's care while the parents went on a holiday trip.

Garb Hinders Pursuit.

As Mrs. Ahlstrom opened the door to a closet on the second floor she saw Burgan, who lives at 2007 Argyle street, in the same building but around the corner. Screaming, she fled downstairs with Burgan after her.

Burgan, however, who had donned a girdle several sizes too small, was unable to make much speed. Hobbling back to the room, he drew on his own trousers over the woman's attire.

A short time later Policemen John Benson, Tom Cleary, and Tom McGreavey, responding to Mrs. Ahlstrom's alarm, noticed a man nonchalantly leaving the building, the fur piece of a negligee jacket creeping out above the collar of his shirt. It was Burgan and he was seized.

Identified as Peeper.

The garments that Burgan was unable to resist wearing were so tight-fitting that three strong policemen were required to peel them off the prisoner.

Later Burgan was identified by Miss Esther L. Smith, 2009 Argyle street, as the man who she said she saw peeking through her bathroom window July 7.

Burgan will be taken to the sex offense bureau tomorrow morning and to the showup tomorrow night as part of an investigation to determine whether he has taken part in other sex offenses. He also will be charged with burglary.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

Two Officers Are Killed When Navy Plane Crashes

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander Henry C. Clayton and Lieut. Herbert R. Schaeffer were killed tonight in the crash of a United States navy plane at Friendsville, Md., a hilly section near Cumberland. Sergt. A. M. Spioch of the state police attributed the crash to heavy fog and rain. The plane, he said, plummeted to earth and burst into flames.

Pilot and Woman Killed.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Fred Montague, 34, pilot for ten years, and Miss Marian Reimel, 20, were killed today when Montague's cabin plane nose dived at Lost Nation airport in suburban Willoughby.

MECHANIC DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Harry Burt, 64 years old, 1508 East 62d street, a mechanic, died of a heart attack early yesterday in his home. He was found dead by his daughter, Doris.

avenue, for whom he is a watchman. With him, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Castle, were Kenneth Castle of 1838 Huron street, brother of Harold, and Mrs. Rosella Castle, wife of Kenneth.

In the other car were Frank Yeast corporation, 615 North Damen Forkin of 134 South 17th avenue, Maywood, the driver; Miss Virginia Pelletier of 708 South 9th avenue, Maywood, and Thomas Barton of 807 Clarence avenue, Oak Park. All were injured and all but Aischlagen are in the Holy Cross hospital.

Another holiday traffic victim was Armand Borgan of 781 North Clark street, a WPA workman. He died in the American hospital early yesterday of injuries incurred Saturday when he was hit by an automobile driven by George Kittel of 846 Sheridan road at Dearborn street and Stockton drive in Lincoln park. Kittel was charged with reckless driving and freed on $300 bond.

Victim of a hit and run driver, Roy Wanzor, 58 years old, colored, 3514 Lafayette avenue, died last night in the County hospital. He was struck down Friday at 40th street and Drexel boulevard.

George Grisl, 6338 Kenwood avenue, was fatally injured, and his wife and Mrs. Goldie Services, a friend, were critically hurt yesterday when their car and two others crashed in state highway 43, six miles north of Crawfordsville, Ind.

Louis Gaydon, 45 years old, 159 West Goethe street, was killed early today when he was struck by a Yellow cab in Clark street at Elm street. He was taken to the Henrotin hospital, and pronounced dead there. The cab driver was Wallace Jones, 56, of 233 Center street.

Four out of eight members of one family were injured last night when their car was overturned after being struck by another machine at 59th and Loomis streets. They were Mrs. Olive Hennessy, 39 years old, 1105 West 59th street, and three children, John, 8; Elizabeth, 15, and Edward, 10. They were taken to Southtown hospital, none seriously hurt. Others in the car were John J. Hennessy, 37, husband of Olive, and three other children. The other car was driven by Charles A. Schick, 6054 Justine street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 748 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 547 were killed in Chicago, where 18,561 were injured.

What is GOLDBLATT'S going to do Tuesday?

YES We've Prepared for You with Even Greater Savings Than Last Year

In the First Year We Have Been on State Street, in the Former Davis Store, We Have Served More Customers, Have Done More Business, and Established Ourselves as State Street's Thrift Center!

A year ago today HEADLINE news was "GOLDBLATT'S PURCHASED THE BIG DAVIS STORE." In a year Goldblatt's have done much to make this one of the outstanding stores on State street. For months we have modernized departments—enlarged many—and added new ones to make shopping easier and more convenient!

In March we celebrated our official Grand Opening and it was such a gala affair that even today people all over America are still talking about it! TOMORROW we are going to make history again . . . with this Celebration Sale. This big store, with its friendly service and fine merchandise, has 11 big floors, occupies nearly 600,000 square feet, with approximately 200 departments, and is stocked with desirable, fashion-right merchandise at great savings!

Welcome to all our customers—those who have shopped here during the year, as well as those who will visit the store for the first time tomorrow—to judge our values and make Goldblatt's their permanent shopping headquarters!

The selling-out sale of the former Davis Store was tremendous! All departments' sales figures were large. But Goldblatt's do bigger and better things each year! So tomorrow we will again demonstrate to millions of Chicagoans that Goldblatt's are going to offer values as only Goldblatt's can!

Four months ago our entire buying staff of nearly 200 buyers started preparing for this event! Our tremendous buying power made possible the money-saving values we are going to pass on to our customers! Fall apparel, furniture for every room, children's school needs and everything, in fact, is priced sensationally low! Every department is fully prepared to give you SUPER-VALUES, so, even if you live FIFTY MILES FROM CHICAGO, our BIRTHDAY SALE LOW PRICES will warrant your coming to Goldblatt's State Street Store tomorrow!

THE GARBLED RIOT REPORT.

Nothing will be added to the public knowledge of the Memorial day strike riot in South Chicago by the recent report of a group of radical sympathizers operating in the guise of a citizens' commission.

The circumstances of that regrettable incident were given a complete airing by the public authorities in Chicago at a hearing at which attorneys for the steel strikers' union were given full opportunity to cross-examine witnesses [a privilege denied Chicago authorities by the biased La Follette committee], and the witnesses themselves numbered approximately as many strikers or strike sympathizers as police. At the close of that hearing a coroner's jury found that the police fired in self-defense and termed the deaths justifiable homicide.

The so-called citizens' report was drawn up by men who had prejudged the case. To justify their conclusions they were forced to garble much of the evidence, particularly the visual evidence of the Associated Press photograph which showed that the mob forced the hostilities by a shower of clubs and rocks thrown into the police ranks.

The commission's conclusions, of course, could have been predicted from the previous conduct of the group. From the beginning of its attacks upon the Chicago police it was evident that the "civil right" in which this group of foolish assistant communists were most interested was the right to riot. Their purpose obviously was to break police morale and resistance.

It has been customary to apologize for the activities of the more respectable members of this group with the plea that they are well meaning but somewhat soft headed. This excuse overlooks their inciters and leaders, militant communists who would bring on in this country the conditions obtaining in Russia, and make room for the October revolution, in the mistaken belief that the rough men capable of overthrowing governments would defer to them.

The very frank financial reports which the United Automobile Workers made public at their recent convention show that they subsidized in Detroit the Conference for the Protection of Civil Rights, an organization similar to the Chicago group. If the C. I. O. steel union ever makes a similarly frank report it will be interesting to learn its financial connections, if any, with the local organization.

HEAD OFFICE IN NEW YORK.

The objective of the Wheeler railway investigation appears quite clear. Mr. Wheeler's senatorial committee is compiling a record that will be used as a basis for legislation designed to tighten the grip of the interstate commerce commission on railway financing through the regulation of holding companies and other devices that are the sources of banker control. There are indignant protests from members of the manipulating group because of the existence of half-truths in the testimony, but pyramided structures like the Van Sweringen financial entanglement are admittedly wrong. A few millions invested at the apex should not have the power to control billions of railway values at the base.

This "head office in New York" idea has always been the bane of the railways. Sixty years ago disgruntled farmers in the middle west, who found their crops rendered almost valueless by the cost of transportation service, framed the granger laws. The railway operating and traffic men with whom they came in daily contact fully understood the farmers' wants and might have assuaged them, but the head office was in New York and conditions in the territory served were of secondary importance.

Then, fifty years ago, came the interstate commerce act, designed to effect a nation-wide housecleaning. Because demagogic attacks were principally directed against allegedly high charges, however, the administration of the law has been mostly concerned with the building up of a ritualistic system of rate control that has brought the railroads to the verge of senility. The price of transportation has not been reduced—on the contrary, it has steadily advanced, because the trouble lies in the inward "head office in New York" evil rather than in the outward excrescences of higher rates. Legislation has been tinkering with the carburetor when the fault lies in a bent frame.

While it is true that the vast sums won and lost in the manipulation of railway control by this or that group consist of speculators' funds and are not available for wages, reduced rates or new railway equipment, the banker control system is the cancerous growth that is delaying railroad rejuvenation and forward progress. The head office should be located in the territory served by the carrier and have direct contact with both its employés and the patrons along the lines.

It seems very evident from the course of events that the railways will either clean house or it will be cleaned for them.

THE DECLINE OF THE AMERICAN SPIRIT AND ITS CAUSE.

Our diplomatic history and record in international relations is divided into two periods by the administration of Woodrow Wilson. He was not alone in trying a perilous and unrealistic romanticism. Some of the endeavors to turn the world war into an advantage on the side of more peaceful and more reasonable terms of life were sincere as well as hopeful. European statesmen were cynical even when they accepted new ideas and bad faith was written in their treaties.

Although the United States through a long political contest was able to avoid some of the traps, notably the world court and the league of nations, its own formerly sound foreign policy sickened. The warning against international entanglements was forgotten. Following Mr. Wilson each President regardless of party has tried to make them. True, we have now a neutrality law, but skeptics are quite justified in believing that it may contain more evil than good.

America, by trying to extend its influence beyond its interests, has lost both. The fault lies with the persons who betrayed their word and the persons who accepted it. At the very beginning of this republic the spirit was totally different and the consequences of our actions in asserting our rights were not regretted afterwards.

When Algerian and Tripolitan sea raiders tried to close the Mediterranean to American traders unless paid tribute and made slaves of American seamen the young United States ordered the building of new model frigates and won the freedom of the seas with their guns.

Then we were young, adventurous, and acquisitive. "Not a penny, not a penny," said Charles Pinckney to the avaricious French directorate. In an undeclared war the Constellation captured the French L'Insurgente and drove off La Vengeance, the Boston captured the Berceau, and the American retaliation against French raids on American commerce cost France eighty-four vessels, mostly privateers.

The small republic on these shores was a gamecock, even if sometimes seemingly a mad one. For reasons good and bad it tackled the great mistress of the seas just when the British had a breathing spell from European wars and, out of misfortunes deserved because of military mistakes, procured two victories over Wellington's veterans, one by naval force on Lake Champlain and another in the swamps around Chalmette in Louisiana. All Wellington could say was that his troops lacked "the iron fist"—meaning his own—but he had refused the command.

We remember Charles Francis Adams in London observing to Lord Russell, the British foreign minister, regarding the pending release of commerce destroyers for the confederacy from the Clydeside yards, an observation remarkable for its simplicity: "It is needless for me to remind you, my lord, that this is war." The commerce destroyers were not released. The simple admonition came from an American minister even when his country was divided against itself in a war of then uncertain issue.

Later, after the civil war had come to its finale here, a word to Napoleon III. caused him to withdraw his troops from Mexico, leaving poor Maximilian to his fate. The Monroe Doctrin of Monroe's message to congress of Dec. 2, 1823, had the suggestion and support of Canning, the British foreign minister, whose expectations failed, whereas those of Monroe's secretary of state, another Adams, John Quincy, were realized. The Holy Alliance was blocked; Russia did not get California, Peru, and Chile. France did not get Mexico, Great Britain did not recover Cuba.

A small republic had taught Algerian pirates, French warships, England's veterans, the conquerors of Napoleon, and its enemies throughout the world to respect its rights. It won on every diplomatic front because it was not afraid. Perry took a small squadron into Japanese waters to ask the people of those islands why they had so behaved themselves to the crew of a wrecked American whaler. The Japanese answer was pacific.

The United States has avoided many wars. Its own greatest war, seemingly inevitable, was domestic. The nation was drawn into the next greatest war, greatest in men and money, by the contempt Germany had for its diplomacy and military power. That German mistake seems to have been forgotten. The Japanese particularly seem to have forgotten it.

Our own history proves that we have avoided many wars by an honest and firm insistence on our rights. Great Britain yielded when Cleveland said that an attack on Venezuela in the boundary dispute would be regarded as a cause of war by the United States. Germany backed down when Theodore Roosevelt told the German ambassador in Washington that an attempt to collect debts by taking over Venezuelan territory would send Admiral Dewey and the American fleet into action.

There may have been rashness in many of these defiant stands for American rights, but the United States, not involved in the affairs of other people, was respected when it talked for itself.

NO SOLDIERING AMONG THE PULLETS.

[Cedar Rapids Gazette.]

A good deal has been said about the bumper crops in the fields this summer but we don't recall many references to the fact that the bounty of nature is being manifested in the hen fruit department as well as the corn, wheat, and cotton divisions. Possibly we've just overlooked such references; we haven't been following the poultry news as avidly as we should, here of late.

Anyway, the point is that the hens have been fairly outdoing themselves during the last four months. In that period, department of agriculture economists say, there have been more eggs laid per hen than at any time in the thirteen years the department has been keeping records. It seems that the hens, taken as a whole, have been batting over .400 this month. [Yet pikers like Gehringer, Di Maggio and Medwick get all the headlines!] That is to say, the average 100 hens on farms this month produced more than forty eggs daily, compared with thirty-six last year, a long time average of thirty-seven, and previous peaks of thirty-eight.

The d. a. economists undertake to account for this by vague references to large hatchings and last year's drought. Being neither an economist nor a farmer, nor yet a hen, we don't quite follow that explanation. But we have one of our own. It is that hens are notoriously perverse critters that invariably insist on laying the most eggs when eggs are cheap.

Jerry, the Hometown handy man, went to the county farm when age made him too feeble for steady work. He was no shirker there, and the supervisor was surprised one day when he found Jerry in town at milking time. The old fellow explained that he had come in to buy a cane. . . . "You're not lame," said the supervisor. . . . "Right," said Jerry, "but the other old bozos at the farm ain't lame either. I'm seein' that the ones with canes jest tap around and set on the porch while the ones with no canes hoe the 'taters and cut the grass. Me, I'm a-goin' to see if a cane'll help me to some 'rest.'" RE-ENFORCING TOM.

(Warsaw, Ind., paper, via W. H.)

After laying in wait for more than a week, Warsaw police Monday night caught a Tom, the Peeper, peering into windows of the Cora Croy home on East Center street, where reside several girl roomers. Complaints about the peeper had been made frequently there. Police advised the girls to put on a special show the other night which they did, in an effort to trap the peeper. That night he never appeared and the police alone enjoyed the open window act. But last night the peeper was captured.

THE ART OF THIEVERY.

Traditionally the roustabouts of the old Mississippi river boats were adept thieves. Mates always watched them closely when passengers overflowed the upper deck and had to find places on the lower. Today there are no lower deck passengers, and the roustabouts have only themselves to prey on. "The old timers rejoice," said Capt. Dick Dicharry of the Tennessee Belle, "when a green, country Negro joins the crew. Recently I watched operations on one. First the veterans saw that the new boy did more than his share of work. Then they overfed him so he would sleep. As he lay snoring on a cotton bale one rouster carefully searched his pockets while another, to aid in keeping the victim from waking, fanned him with a hat." NURSE UNIVERSAL.

I like to think of Autumn as a nun
Clad in a modest garb of brown and gray,
Who comes forth at the close of Summer's fray—
A nun, a nurse, whose blessed benison
Consoles and calms; who kneels by every one
With bleeding wounds, and in her gentle way
Administers whatever aid she may,
And folds the hands of those whose life is done.

A consecrated nun of saintly vows
Who binds all wounds with bandages of snow;
Who soothes with tears of rain all fevered brows,
Intones a prayer, then meekly turns to go
Within the wintry convent, bleak and bare,
To light three candles at the altar there.

HOW SOME CHICAGOANS BATTLED DEPRESSION

THE TRIBUNE here presents the story of another Chicagoan who, workless but with high courage, faced the recent depression and fought through it without applying for relief. There is no inference to be drawn that all could have done it; nevertheless the case cited is inspiring. This case is from the files of the Illinois state employment service.

Miss McGrath is 43, a woman of refinement and a graduate of Columbia university. She had been teaching geometry and medieval history for six years when, in 1926, she began to lose her hearing. She was compelled to resign.

Using the savings from her $250 a month salary, she went back to Columbia, took graduate work in accounting and mathematics, and qualified for a certified public accountant. She obtained a position as traveling auditor for an industrial engineer, at $250 a month, but in 1930, in Chicago, she became completely deaf.

For the next six years she existed. She stuffed envelopes on a piece-work basis. By working far into the night she sometimes made $2 a day. One month she stuffed steadily for four weeks. The next month she had only four days' work.

In December, 1936, she came to the Illinois state employment service, unable to hear a word but able to read lips. Through the service's intervention a manufacturer loaned her a hearing device. Wearing it, she got two weeks' work as accountant at $6 a day, followed by two temporary positions as bookkeeper. She now has a permanent position as office manager in charge of accounts, making $35 a week.

EYESTRAIN HEADACHES.

HEADACHE is our most widespread symptom—constipation alone excepted. Alleged causes number hundreds and each victim has an explanation to account for his own special variety. Few of us are wise enough to consult a physician for this sign that something is wrong. Only when it becomes persistent or disabling will it drive us to seek medical aid, and then all too often the source is not discovered and we leave, perhaps, with a prescription but without a diagnosis.

The fact of the matter is that the body senses no pain whatsoever that is without a foundation. Nerves do not telegraph the word "trouble" to the brain unless they have a reason for so doing, and every one is entitled to a careful study to determine the origin of the complaint.

Included in the general examination should be a detailed measurement of the vision to make certain that the unaided eye can read the test types. If short or long sightedness is present spectacles should be prescribed. Any severe illness may disturb the power of the eye to adjust itself to near and far vision, especially if it comes on later than the third decade. Headaches due to this factor ensue after reading or after work requiring frequent change of focus. The discomfort is most intense directly across the forehead, penetrating to the root of the nose.

Many individuals will have no pain whatever on rising, but as the day wears on and the eyes are used rather consistently the symptom will occur in such severe form that by the time the workday is over the victim is fighting what is sometimes termed a "blinding" headache.

W. W. Weeks believes that 70 per cent of all headaches which become manifest on both sides of the forehead in the so-called frontal region are due to strain associated with the use of the eyes. If pain appears on one side only the basis is most likely to be in the visual apparatus. If of ocular origin it will recur whenever these organs are overtaxed.

It has been noted that the condition is much more common in those who are nervous, temperamental, and inclined to do things intensively. One with greater resistance or who is more phlegmatic may subject the vision to the same amount of overwork without the slightest distress. Astigmatism seems to be the chief offender, particularly in young people, and fatigue of the muscles which control the shape of the lens is next in importance. Whenever correcting minor errors of vision—astigmatism, for example—brings relief, the achievement is accomplished because normal muscle balance has been restored.

Older persons who have become farsighted—who have difficulty in "near" work—develop these accommodation disorders, which are sometimes called "focusing" headaches. The muscles make an effort, but tire in so doing.

Here again the state of the general health is a factor. If one is perfectly well the ciliary muscle [focusing apparatus] has a considerable amount of reserve. Many patients will note some failure of vision following a siege of influenza or any other illness of fair severity. This is because certain muscles of the eyes have actually undergone atrophy [wasting] or have shared in the general weakening of the entire body.

Many people assume that no matter what happens to one's stomach, liver, muscles, lungs, etc., the eyes will carry on normally. Unfortunately this is not true, as the entire coördinating mechanism of sight, including the nerves, may be thrown out of balance because of fatigue or some illness. Occasionally the circulation is at fault and because of the lack of blood or a drop in its quality, structures that should perform with ease do so at the expenditure of considerable effort and the resulting head pain is but a natural response.

CONFUSED.

M. B. writes: I have the desire to urinate often but pass only a few drops. There is a burning sensation. One physician tells me to use all kinds of fruits and vegetables and another says that fruits and vegetables contain acid and should not be used. One doctor says the fruit changes to alkali; the other says the mischief is done before it changes to alkali. I am confused.

REPLY.

The food you need depends on the chemical reaction of your urine. If it is acid, you need alkali-producing foods—beans, beets, cabbage, citrus fruit, milk, potatoes, and carrots. If it is alkaline you need acid producing foods—bread, eggs, fish, meat, and rice. The chances are that you have some bladder irritation or obstruction which will not be relieved by any form of diet. Consult a skilled urologist.

COUGHING.

Y. R. writes: If you wish to do something for the health of our citizens why not go after the coughing girls who work in restaurants? It seems to me that most waitresses have some pulmonary or bronchial irritation accompanied by a cough. Food cannot avoid contamination.

REPLY.

I have not observed that waitresses cough any more than other people. Of course, it is insanitary to cough or sneeze in the vicinity of food. Particles of sputum may be carried two or three feet or more. It goes without saying that every one whose cough does not clear up within a reasonable time should have an examination to rule out tuberculosis or some other type of respiratory disease. The rule against the uncovered cough applies with equal force to every one—not alone waitresses.

VEINS ON HANDS.

P. M. S. writes: What causes the veins to stick out on the hands? What can be done about it?

REPLY.

Prominent veins on the backs of the hands may be an indication that the return circulation is not quite up to par. On the other hand, the symptom may mean nothing. With most persons, these veins will bulge whenever the arms are lower than the heart.

RHEUMATIC FEVER.

I. P. writes: Last March I had rheumatic fever. I am going to the beach this summer on vacation and would like to know if I may go in the water. I am 13 years old.

REPLY.

Yes, if your heart was not injured by the infection. Your physician will know best.

RAILWAY FINANCIAL TERMS.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Statements of railway operations are often misunderstood and frequently misquoted on the public platform and in published articles and therefore the following information is submitted to assist those interested in securing a clearer understanding of the terms used in stating the results of railway operations:

Railway Operating Revenue: This consists of all revenue received by the railway for transportation services, including freight, passenger, mail, express and other allied services. This also includes revenue arising from storage, demurrage and other activities incident to the performance of transportation; in fact, all revenue growing out of the transportation activities of a railway.

Railway Operating Expenses: Those expenses incurred in connection with the performance of transportation services, including maintenance of fixed property, locomotives and cars, together with the expenses of wages, fuel, material and supplies necessary for the movement of trafic, but not including taxes or payments for the use of other companies' equipment and property used jointly.

Net Revenue from Railway Operation: Is the "railway operating revenue," defined above, less the "railway operating expenses."

Net Railway Operating Income: Is the "net revenue from railway operation" less taxes, uncollectible revenue, payments for use of other companies' equipment and facilities used jointly. This is the amount which the railway company realizes from its transportation activities, and is available for the payment of rentals of leased lines and interest on indebtedness; the remainder, if any, may be carried to surplus or applied to dividends. ERWIN BAUMBUCK.

ILLINOIS STATE PARKS.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 24.—I respectfully submit the following suggestions for your Illinois improvement program:

Establish parks and fish hatcheries in central and southern sections, where mining operations have left plenty of ponds and land is cheap.

Develop the parks we now have into attractive vacation spots for trailers and tenting parties. At present we have only one such park and it is not so good.

I have traveled in Missouri, Arkansas, Indiana, and Michigan this summer and was impressed by the fine results obtained by the conservation departments of these states.

According to the governor's report, this year the Illinois department collected $1,280,000 in licenses.

Illinois is not getting its share of tourist business and a lot of money leaves the state with residents who spend their vacations in other states.

I feel sure that if the funds collected by the conservation department were efficiently spent all this could be done without any help from the state treasury and would result in more business and a better state to live in. WM. L. BLAIR.

AT LAST—A SUBWAY!

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Mayor Kelly pleads—our city council debates—the citizens of Chicago wonder—while an insignificant railroad boldly refuses to remove their tracks from the Municipal airport. As yet, no solution has been presented—nevertheless, I hereby present the one and only solution which should satisfy all parties involved, I hope.

Why not build a tunnel below the surface of the airport? The railroad could just as well run below the surface through that short distance. Chicago would have a spacious airport, the railroad would not need to reroute their road and everybody would be satisfied. Electric eyes at each end of the tunnel would start pumps whenever a train would enter either end of the tunnel so as to pump out the smoke. ALEXANDER W. ZULA.

FATE OF THE PACKERS.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 2.—Curley Lambeau's Green Bay Packers and President Roosevelt's Supreme court packers both showed lots of power, but both came out on the short end of the score. The All-American quality of the opposition probably caused the result in each case. EMERSON T. ANTHONY.

COMIC STRIP CRIME AND THE SUBCONSCIOUS.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—I would like to add my bit to the letter from Evelyn Marie Stuart in Wednesday's TRIBUNE, Voice of the People, in regard to so-called "comic strips," concerning "Dick Tracy" and "Little Orphan Annie."

As the mother of a young son I have long been simply appalled by the apparently highly organized crime schools of the radio, movies, and "comic strips." I notice the editor headed the letter, "Doesn't Virtue Always Win?" Well, maybe so, but there's one important fact that has been overlooked, which is this, as any child psychologist knows: The message which appeals to the conscious mind or reason is not as powerful as that, which through the force of suggestion, appeals to the subconscious or emotional centers. You may keep yelping from the housetops that crime does not pay, but through these strips you are suggesting again and again the content that it does, and lots of people have no other way of making a living, so that these strips are really crime propaganda. The children's minds are allowed to dwell on crime constantly and children who think of nothing but crime are very likely to be led into it, regardless of how much one tries to point a moral in the presentation of a crime tale. FRANCES NOLTON.

A COMMUNIST MAYOR FOR CHICAGO.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 2.—Have not been aware, until reading your brilliant little editorial this morning, that the present mayor of New York is a communist, or nearly so. However, I am rather familiar with some of the outstanding accomplishments of his administration, and if he is a communist I believe that Chicago had better look for a communist as a candidate for mayor. F. J. KENDRICK.

THE GAMBLING CRUSADE.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The state's attorney is doing a wonderful thing, closing these gambling houses, but let's hope he will not go too far and stop the chuck-a-luck wheels, slot machines, and keno at our church carnivals, as our parishes need the money so badly in their war on sin. D. C.

FEE FOR PROBATE.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—There is an estate of about $400 which is being paid into my mother's estate, of which I am the only heir. This estate is coming from Pennsylvania and [1] the lawyer there took out a fee of $40.

2. We have a lawyer on this end taking care of things also, and would like to know how much [what percentage] a lawyer is allowed to take out of a small estate for his fee.

3. Would also like your advice on what percentage the government would take as interitance tax on this end and whether they would take any, as long as I am such a close relation and it is such a small amount. E. L.

1. You could hardly expect him to handle the probate for less.

2. Ordinarily it is not necessary for each beneficiary to be represented by a separate attorney. If you have found it necessary to employ one, we infer that your facts have been somewhat exceptional and we cannot advise without knowing the nature and extent of the attorney services. His compensation would not necessarily be on the percentage basis.

3. There is no federal estate tax on estates of this size. Presumably the Pennsylvania attorney would have seen to it that Pennsylvania taxes were met before he made any distribution to you.

We have reported to the alderman, to the ward committeeman, and others but can't seem to get it cleaned out. The children in the neighborhood have the street littered with all kinds of cans and other rubbish. Please tell us how to go about reporting conditions. W. T. J.

Week's Brides and Fiances to Face Gay Whirl

BY JUDITH CASS.

PARTIES for several popular girls and their fiancés who are to be married this week will add to the gayety of the next few days. The young easterners who will usher at the wedding of Miss Betty Brooks to Thomas Morgan Schriber on Saturday evening are arriving tomorrow, and Miss Brooks' mother, Mrs. Mason Phelps, will give a dinner for them and other members of the bridal party tomorrow evening at home.

Miss Bette Rich and Miss Louise Forgan, who will be two of Miss Brooks' bridesmaids, will give a dinner Wednesday evening at the Onwentsia and on Thursday Miss Nancy Poole and Miss Mary Wood, two other bridesmaids, will give a dinner at Miss Poole's home. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps will give the bridal dinner Friday evening at the Shoreacres club, and on Saturday Miss Clarice Hamill, another bridesmaid, will give a luncheon at home for the bridal party.

Minneapolis Visitors to Attend Parties.

A number of relatives and friends from Minneapolis are taking part in the prenuptial festivities for Miss Mary Curtis Cushman and Stuart Wilder Wells Jr. of Minneapolis, who are to be married Wednesday afternoon.

Crowded into the last few days before the wedding are a buffet supper and musical given by the Merrill Shepards, who used to live in Minneapolis; the Philip Pillsburys' dinner, for which intriguing rimed invitations were issued; the R. Gregory Durhams' swimming party, the W. English Wallings' cocktail party, Mrs. Charles H. G. Kimball's spinster dinner for her sister, and Mr. Wells' bachelor dinner at the University club.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Cushman, Miss Cushman's parents, are giving a luncheon tomorrow at the Indian Hill club and will give the bridal dinner at the club tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wilder Wells, Mr. Wells' parents, and his aunt, Miss Marguerite Wells, national president of the League of Women Voters, are among those who have come from Minneapolis for the wedding.

Lord-Beaton Bridal Dinner Tomorrow.

Miss Suzanne Lord's wedding to Lindsay E. Beaton Wednesday evening in Evanston has been prefaced by a whirl of entertaining that will be climaxed by the bridal dinner that her parents, the Thomas Lords, will give tomorrow evening at the Glen View club. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snite of Highland Park are giving a dinner at home tonight for Miss Lord and her fiancé.

Harold Pulsifer, Mrs. Robert Berry, the former Margaret Fenner, and her sister, Mrs. David Sampsell, Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Hillyer, Mrs. J. H. Sheldon Lee Jr., Miss Esther Grulee, Mrs. Harry Ayres, Miss Gertrude Matthews and Miss Mary Cook, Mrs. Robert Bentley, Miss Lord's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fenner also have entertained for the prospective bride and Mr. Beaton.

Picnic for Ruth Johnston and Her Fiance Today.

For the last month their friends have been entertaining for Miss Ruth Johnston and Benjamin Morton Hair, whose wedding takes place Wednesday evening in Highland Park. S. Parker Johnston Jr. and Robert Adams Johnston, Miss Johnston's brothers, are giving a picnic for them today, and others who have entertained for them over the week-end were Roger Sherman, who gave a dinner at the Glen View club; Miss Marjorie Hair, Mr. Hair's sister, and Miss Jane Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Hair, the bridegroom's parents, are giving the bridal dinner tomorrow night at the Glen View following the rehersal.

Over this week-end Harry Cody has given a house party at Green Lake, Wis., for Miss Helen Woodbury Holton and Edward Charles Walter and two dozen of their friends. Miss Holton and Mr. Walter are to be married Saturday evening.

Miss Holton's spinster dinner will be given for her Wednesday evening at Miss Nancy Lewis' home in Evanston, and Frank Kyser will give the bachelor dinner that same evening in Wilmette. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. A. Walter, Mr. Walter's parents, will give the bridal dinner Friday evening at the Shawnee Country club following the wedding rehersal.

Chicago Girls Take Part in Eastern Wedding Today.

Miss Beth Coleman and Miss Louise Clark are in East Hampton, N. Y., today to be bridesmaids for their cousin, Miss Jane Clark Spalding, when she becomes the bride of Allison Ripley Maxwell Jr. The wedding is taking place in St. Philomena's church. Miss Spalding's mother is Mrs. Jesse Spalding of New York and East Hampton, formerly of Chicago, and her late father was a member of the New York Stock exchange and captained the Yale football team in 1913.

The bride attended Miss Chapin's school in New York and the Sacred Heart convent in Noroton, Conn. She made her debut last winter. Mr. Maxwell is a son of Mrs. Allison Maxwell of Pittsburgh. He attended Princeton university.

Jack Knode Takes Bride in Wisconsin Today.

Of interest to Chicagoans is a wedding that will take place today in the historic Congregational church on Madeline Island in Lake Superior when Miss Patricia Nash will become the bride of Oliver M. Knode Jr. The bride is the daughter of the James B. Nashes of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., but she has spent much time in Chicago, and the bridegroom, better known as Jack than as Oliver Jr., is the son of the Oliver M. Knodes of Hubbard Woods.

Mrs. E. Webb Harrison will attend

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The former Priscilla Guthrie and her bridegroom, Alfred B. Novak, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Novak of Elm street, as they left Christ church in Winnetka following their wedding there Saturday afternoon. In place of the conventional bride's costume Mrs. Novak wore a gown of peacock blue tulle made with an Eton jacket and full skirts, with which she wore a matching cap, lace mittens, and a seed pearl necklace worn by her great-grandmother at her wedding in 1839.

Swank Jackets Will Contrast Fitted Dresses

BY RHEA SEEGER.

After you've shopped for all-black clothes, those first irresistible outfits that steal the fashion spotlights, you'll next spend your cash for the sheath dresses of deep blue, brown, or black with top frosting of clear, strong color.

Already the smartest shops use them for bait in the windows. The jackets are blinding tempters, besides being the most practical buys for any wardrobe. Think what you can mix with a gay, frivolous jacket.

The foundation is the slim, sheath dress of wool, dull crêpe or velveteen. Such a dress is fitted so revealingly to the streamline that it appears to have been plastered onto the figure. Usually the sleeves are long. The neckline is severe and uncompromisingly prim, but tremendously smart with barbaric gold chunks of clips, white bracelets, and chest pins. Even the skirts hang straight and trim with only a slim side plait for walking.

The jackets are blazing tops of glory; colorful affairs that can be seen and heard for blocks. Canary yellow that almost makes you blink, lime green—this is especially striking against the right shade of deep blue—Chinese vermilion, a tawny old gold, fire truck red, russet, rust, henna, and all kinds of Viennese uniform colors from pale to husky shades.

Braid whirls around pockets, edges the cuffs, and makes the snug little collars seem even tighter and more swank. Gleaming cutouts of patent lether, silver or kidskin; silver or gold metal nail heads, and fanciful scrolls are other decorations. And the silhouette keeps you slim, smooth, and effective. These combinations are destined for the smartest wardrobes. You'll count the days until cold weather so that you can flaunt them on the avenue.

Good Morning!

Here's one of those half and half musicals. Half entertaining and half enraging.

The film's principal troubles are the scenario, which just isn't bright, and Joe Penner, who is just nauseating. Its laudable spots are the sincere efforts of Harriet Hilliard, Gene Raymond, Helen Broderick, Victor Moore and Parkyakarkus and a pretty good song titled "Yankee Doodle Band."

The story is an involved thing-amagig concerning one Mitzi [Miss Hilliard], who is running away from her mother who desires her to marry a Park avenue playboy [Mr. Penner] for his money. Mitzi wants to be an entertainer. Her agent [Miss Broderick] wants the same thing.

And then up pops Irresistibility in the form of Gene Raymond. He falls for Mitzi at first sight and pursues her madly. . . .

For various reasons she pretends to marry him—which state of affairs results in a comedy of errors that isn't vurr' comical. The ending is what you might expect.

Well, "The Life of the Party" is light, anyhow. And if you sleep through all of it you still won't have missed anything you'll really miss.

See you tomorrow.

One hundred Presbyterian ministers and representative laymen will attend the annual convocation of the Chicago presbytery beginning today at Westminster lodge, Camp Gray, near Saugatuck, Mich.

Dr. John A. Mackey, president of Princeton Theological seminar; Frank Caldwell, Louisville Theological seminary; Charles J. Turck, former president of Centre college; the R. W. Backemeyer of Gary, and the Rev. Edward E. Downey of Grand Rapids will discuss social and international questions of the church.

Gus Gets Name for Himself as Movie Adviser

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Gus Galli is personally popular, but professionally considered something of a nuisance. As technical expert on "The Bride Wore Red" company, Gus, who is Italian, considered it his duty to see that the Alpine and Trieste settings were filmed with strictest authenticity.

Star, director and prop man might conceivably be willing to compromise many times during the making of the film, but not Gus.

Scenes shot in the high Sierras were Gus' greatest trial. While he reluctantly admitted that the Sierras bear a slight resemblance to the Tyrol, nothing was exactly right. At 9,000 feet in the heart of the mountains in midsummer snowbanks abounded, but nature, according to Gus, had put them in the wrong places. He had men shoveling snow with wild abandon to get the right effects, and it was his one regret that he couldn't move a couple of 12,000 foot peaks.

Gus enjoyed his supreme moment of triumph on Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's stage 15, where the Terrano railroad station was recreated. Even he beamed and said, "It is magnificent. No detail is missing."

There was the low, rambling station, the postman, Franchot Tone, with his donkey cart, and even a smoky tunnel. In this scene Joan Crawford was supposed to arrive from Trieste. An asthmatic engine with two carriages puffed into the station. A bag of mail was tossed to Franchot, and Joan descended to the platform.

This was rehersed while Gus was off the set doing research for a cabaret sequence. During his absence the engine and carriages were laboriously transported from the construction department and placed upon the rails. The rehersal took most of the morning, while starts, stops and cues were timed.

"We'll shoot it after lunch," said Director Dorothy Arzner, when she dismissed the company.

Upon her return she was met by an excited assistant, Eddie Woehler.

"The engine is missing!" he said.

"Missing?" questioned Miss Arzner.

"Impossible!"

"That is correct," interrupted Gus, with dignity, his arms folded across his chest. "I sent it back."

"But why?" demanded Miss Arzner.

"It was all wrong," declared Gus. "It was a Swiss engine. But don't worry. I will have it back in a few minutes. Only minor changes were really necessary—a different smokestack, a little paint here and there. Then it will do. That engine would have been the laughing stock of Europe."

Ilona Massey [real name Hajmassy], Hungarian opera star, ended her first day of screen acting in one of the spectacular sequences of "Rosalie." Asked how she liked the movies at the end of her first day, Miss Massey declared, "It is a strange business," and went home.

Dorothy Lamour has given herself a two weeks' vacation from all film acting, wardrobe fittings, "retakes," and screen tests in order to chum with her husband, Herb Kay, Chicago orchestra leader, whose band recently moved to Catalina Island.

Helen Jepson has started a private investigation of the disappearance of large diamond drop earrings which she took to United Artists studio with her one day last week.

The last she remembers was that she hid them in toes of her slippers in her dressing room. There is a possibility the jewelry was not stolen but somehow found its way into the studio rubbish when she changed to her street clothes, and may have dropped them out of her slipper.

P. G. Wodehouse, who is here to write for the movies for the third time, was too bashful to agree to a public bestowal of the annual Mark Twain medal, and made the representatives of the International Mark Twain society come to the home of his friend, Novelist Edward Carroll Sibley, and make their presentation in practical secrecy.

Tim Holt, Jack Holt's 18 year old son, has suddenly become an actor considerably in demand. A student at Culver Military academy until one year ago, he did several rôles—one of them opposite Mae Clarke—at Westwood Little theater. He then made a movie début as Dick Grosvenor in "Stella Dallas." He is now under term contract to Producer Walter Wanger and appearing in the Wanger picture "I Met My Love Again."

Andrea Leeds, the recent college co-ed whom Producer Sam Goldwyn "discovered" by looking at a 16 millimeter amateur film, is back on the reservation after straying onto Signor Sam's suspended list. She refused to accept a rôle in Goldwyn's United Artists picture "Woman Chases Man." Her boss suspended her.

"Woman Chases Man" became a success without Miss Leeds, and she hunted up Goldwyn and apologized for attempting to "add producing to acting work." Goldwyn reinstated her and lent her to RKO to appear in "Stage Door." Now Miss Leeds is back on her home lot to play the feminine lead in "Goldwyn Follies" opposite the radio and movie tenor, Kenny Baker. The "Follies" are to be made in technicolor, and brunette Miss Leeds' raven hair is being dyed chestnut. Her real name is Antoinette Lees, and she is 23 years old and a recent student at University of California at Los Angeles.

Universal studio made screeen offers to Miss Loyce York, 21, of Atlanta, Ga., who earlier this week was crowned "Miss Aviation of 1937," and this studio was quite surprised to get Miss York's reply, which was: "Thank you, but I do not want to go into the movies."

A NEW airplane schedule has been named The Rainbow. It was inaugurated last Wednesday afternoon, a hot, sultry day, you may remember, with considerable rain during the afternoon. Just before the start of the inaugural flight the sky lightened, and shortly after the ship cleared a rainbow appeared in the sky. To the passengers it appeared to ring the tail of the ship, providing a timely and appropriate christening of the new schedule.

BIG city sights:

—The two bathers who arrived at the Main street beach in Evanston draped in large white towels across which "Contagious Hospital" was woven in large letters, adding a final morbid note for those already a little jittery because of the infantile paralysis epidemic scare.

—Hobo sitting on a curbstone in the vicinity of Halsted and Adams streets breakfasting from a large tin of caviar.

—Green sedan, license number 407-943 with "Redhead" on the door where a monogram or initials are placed usually.

—Horse drawing peddler's wagon at 25th street and Wentworth avenue, the horse wearing a straw hat and with white pajamas on its front legs.

—The colored parson waiting in the vicinity of the marriage license bureau in the county building looking for colored couples to marry, carrying a small Bible, wearing a cut-away, wing collar and a red carnation in his lapel buttonhole.

—A woman knitting during services at the First Methodist Episcopal church on a recent Sunday morning.

—A hat, accompanied by a red wig, blowing off the head of an elevated passenger, and landing in another passenger's lap.

CICERO avenue has become a kind of a speedway for trucks, judging from the number that have crashed into the fronts of stores recently. Three such accidents have occurred within the last few weeks. One of the shops was a liquor store, and the entire front was smashed by a truck. The front was boarded up and large signs announced, "Business going on as usual inside," and "New front will be ready soon." Also there was another very large sign that read, "From now on trucks please keep out." Truck drivers are obliging fellows. The next one, obviously having read the sign, ran into an automobile agency half a block away.

A CHICAGO and North Western train sped along in the twilight between Milwaukee and Chicago on its usual schedule the other night, and plain to be seen in a lighted car, its doors open, that was attached to the dining car, were fifty Guernsey cows in the straw covered enclosure. Perhaps it was fresh milk service for the diner.

Jews Warned of Dictators as Year Dawns

Twilight yesterday found Jews of Chicago gathered in temples and synagogues in solemn celebration of Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, traditionally the 5,698th year since creation. The shofar, symbol of the trumpet of the Messiah, sounded the call to worship in orthodox and reformed temples alike, where the faithful prayed for a renewal of strength and understanding and sought merciful judgment for their deeds of the closing year.

Summons to renewed loyalty to Jewish faith and traditions was the keynote of rabbis and leaders who led the spiritual interpretations of the passing year.

In his sermon Dr. Louis L. Mann, rabbi of the Chicago Sinai congregation, assailed dictatorship and nationalism.

"Nationalism has become rampant," he said. "Universalism and internationalism, the dream of the prophets, now sound like irony and sardonic humor. While Jewish prophets proclaim the brotherhood of man, Mussolini, who typifies all dictators, shouts defiantly, 'Beyond the state there is nothing.'

"To make narrow, misdirected nationalism doubly dangerous it has been linked with racialism. Dictators are hostile to religion because religion is hostile to ruthless regimentation. False propaganda and malicious censorship take toll of the toiler. Dictatorship is practical atheism."

Dr. Jacob Singer, rabbi of Temple Mizpah, told his congregation that militant nationalism which plagues the world today has turned the land of sacred memories into an arena of political strife and bloodshed.

"Goodwill is the greatest need in Palestine today, and the leaders of peace must be aided in their effort to avoid partition," he said. "The world cannot be saved from racial bigotry, from gross materialism and bloddy militarism unless the ideals of Zion be written into the hearts and codes of mankind."

Rabbi Solomon Goldman of the Anshe Emet synagogue emphasized humanity's need of courageous resistance to dictatorship. That, he said, is the most difficult problem human being face today.

Roosevelt Issues Message.

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—With the sounding of the shofar, the sacred ram's horn, at sunset, the 16,000,000 Jews throughout the world tonight began observance of the festival of Rosh Hashana.

The day is the first of ten holy days, culminating in Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, which begins at sunset Sept. 14. In Jewish lore, Rosh Hashana is the judgment day, when destinies for the coming year are inscribed in the Creator's books, which are sealed on Yom Kippur after the period of repentance.

The celebrators had this new year felicitation from President Roosevelt:

"I highly appreciate the significance of Rosh Hashana and desire to express my earnest hope that the new year then beginning will be marked by increasing prosperity and happiness, not only for our Jewish citizens but for all the people of our common country."

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright, 1937, by Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. After the trial, as Bessie Mathews, she is given a job by Gwynneth Bentley, caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. Gwynneth plans to kill her husband and plant the blame on Bessie so that she can marry her lover, Roy Gleason. Medinal tablets are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground medinal tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off and sends away Bessie's luggage to make it appear that Bessie had fled. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has learned of the crime. He hides Bessie in his apartment. To his friend, Inspector Rason, Jim introduces Bessie as his sister. Jim gets Roy Gleason to admit that he and Gwynneth attended Bessie's trial. A telegram which Bessie had sent to Jim aroused Rason's suspicions.

INSTALMENT XXV.

A CHANCE TO ESCAPE.

Point by point Watkin brought out the history of his meeting with Bessie. His first suspicions of her and how they were allayed. Finally, her behavior at the very time when Bentley was dying. He told how Bessie actually got into the train—to face certain arrest at Suddington—and how he had whisked her out at the last moment.

"You'll probably now want to check up on everything I say. Well, you can check up on the ticket collector and the policeman. After that I took her away and hid her—got out of her all the facts I could—that I've been feeding to you."

Jim Watkin threw all his magnetic force into the next words:

"You can't believe that I'd be such an awful goat as to tie myself up with a girl who might have committed murder. Unless you believe that all I've been saying is moonshine you must believe that she didn't do it and the Bentley woman did."

Again that indifferent shrug which showed Jim Watkin that he had accomplished nothing.

"All the same, I've got to pull her in."

Watkin drew down the lines of his mouth, his shoulders drooped, and he accepted defeat.

"Then you have to pull me in, too, on the charge of being accessory after the fact!" he ejaculated.

"I'll do my best for you, Watkin," said Rason unsteadily. "I can certainly make some delay—and I'll do it."

There came a light kick on the door. From Bessie's foot—for both hands were holding the tray.

Instantly to Jim Watkin came the first flash of inspiration.

"You know you'll have to pull me in, Rason," he whispered in the de-

"To the yard! What the hell do you mean, Rason?"

tective's ear with sudden intensity. "You've guessed that my sister has been standing in with me. You don't need to pull her in, too, do you?"

Rason delayed his answer so long that Bessie kicked again.

"No," said Rason thoughtfully. "I can manage to keep her out of it. Provided she doesn't make a fool of herself and you don't blow the gaff."

"Open the door, somebody!" called Bessie's voice.

"Coming!" Watkin called back, and opened the door.

In doing so he turned his back on Rason and contrived to wink at Bessie. Bessie was smiling. She saw the wink and the smile did not falter as she brought in the tray and set it on the table.

"I'm afraid Mr. Rason won't eat the omelette," he said.

"O! What a pity! Doesn't he like omelettes?"

"It's rather serious," continued Watkin. "Mr. Rason has found out that you and I have been helping Bessie Mersand. Don't make any remark or he may have to take official notice of the fact that you've been helping me. But he insists that I take him now to—to where we've hidden her. The one thing is, you'll have to promise not to warn her."

Bessie was steady. Watkin plunged on, hoping that she would be able to pick up the warning to escape which he was conveying to her in the very presence of the detective.

"She's at a house in Kennington, Rason," he went on. "It will take us about a quarter of an hour in a taxi. The house isn't on the telephone, as a matter of fact, but if you'll feel easier in your mind I'll cut the wire here before we go."

"That's not necessary," said Rason. "I'll be content with Miss Watkin's word of honor not to warn Bessie Mersand."

For the first time Bessie faltered. It was impossible to look into the eyes of this very pleasant man who happened to be a detective and give a false assurance. She kept her head low and made no answer.

For a moment Watkin was nervous. But Rason evidently was taking her assurance for granted—and had as evidently assumed her confusion to be caused by having deceived him in the first instance.

"Well, if you're ready, Watkin—Kennington, you said. Good-night, Miss Watkin!"

"Good-night, Mr. Rason!"

Watkin had to cross in front of Bessie to follow Rason. With his eyes he sent her an agonized message to run away at once, and she gave him back the faintest nod of understanding.

He dared not delay for a few seconds to speak to his sister for fear of arousing the detective's suspicion. He walked straight on and left the flat, shoulder to shoulder with Rason.

"There's a taxi rank just round the corner," remarked Watkin as they reached the street.

Kennington! Watkin hardly knew the district at all. He would have to think up a convincing address.

By the time they reached the rank he had invented a street name.

"Twenty-three, Marchfield street, Kennington."

"Marchfield street, sir? Never 'eard of it."

"You turn to the left just before you get to the Oval. I know it quite well and I'll direct you when we get close up."

Rason had already entered the taxi and Watkin got in beside him.

Bessie, he reasoned, could throw a few necessaries into a case and be well away from the flat within ten minutes. And it would take about a quarter of an hour to get to the Oval. For that time he must keep Rason's attention employed. He could gain another five minutes or so looking for the imaginary Marchfield street—and then he would have to own up.

"When you take her you'll let me come back with you to the Yard, Rason, so that she isn't frightened?"

"Yes, if you like."

"I don't see why you should be so grumpy about it, old man. After all, I'm going to be the unlucky one in this business."

"You knew what you were doing when you started shielding the girl."

"Yes—but I thought I could get away with it. I thought at the end of it all you'd hand me an illuminated address thanking me for saving you from making a fool of yourself."

Rason permitted himself a gruff laugh.

"I've made a fool of myself before now, and I daresay I shall do it again before I'm dead."

There was a long silence before Rason asked:

"What name are you hiding her under?"

"The usual," answered Watkin. "'Smith.'"

"Are you keeping her shut up all day? What does she do for exercise?"

"O she goes about in the ordinary way! The only stuff you've got is those very dud photographs."

They were running now into Kennington and as they approached the Oval the driver slowed.

"I'll have to pilot him now," said Watkin, and lowered the window.

"Then pilot him back to the Yard," said Rason dryly. "And you'll pay the fare."

"To the Yard! What the hell do you mean, Rason?"

"I mean that those photographs weren't quite so dud as you thought they were," answered Rason. "I'll admit I didn't recognize her before. But when she came in with that tray I had my mind on the photographs—and I recognized her. 'Miss Watkin,' eh! And your sister. After all the years we've known each other."

"Turn back and go to Scotland Yard," ordered Watkin.

her sister as matron of honor and Miss Nancy Nash and Miss Nancy Knode will be the bridesmaids. Mr. Knode Sr. will be his son's best man and ushering will be James B. Nash Jr. and Horton Conrad, the bridegroom's brother-in-law. Young Mr. Knode and his bride will live in the cottage on the Knode estate that was occupied by the Conrads until they moved recently into a new house on Sunset Ridge road west of Winnetka.

Only a few friends and the relatives will witness the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock. A reception at the summer home on the island of the Nashes will follow.

The Misses Jean and Mary Armstrong, who, with their parents, the Horace W. Armstrongs, recently have returned from a Scandinavian cruise, have issued invitations to smorgasbord next Sunday at 1 o'clock to meet Bjorne Thorstensen, a Norwegian who will be visiting the Armstrongs in Winnetka at that time.

Entertains at Cocktails Today for Emily Harmon.

Mrs. Edmund M. Gifford of Detroit, who has been visiting her parents, the John H. Harmons, in Highland Park, will entertain at cocktails this afternoon for her debutante sister, Miss Emily Harmon. The party will be held at the home of Mr. Gifford's parents, the R. Carleton Giffords, in Highland Park.

Mr. Gifford arrived in time to spend the week-end here with his family. Next Sunday he and Mrs. Gifford are leaving for a fishing trip in Wisconsin.

Tomorrow Miss Elizabeth Low will give a tea at her home in Highland Park for Miss Harmon and the following day Miss Lydia Hastings will entertain at tea for Miss Harmon in Highland Park. Both will be assistants at a tea-dance Saturday at the Exmoor club at which Miss Harmon and Miss Annette Roberts Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Jones of Highland Park, will be presented to society.

F. Thomas Morrises Return from New England Tour.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Thomas Morris have returned to their Winnetka home from a 6,500 mile motor trip through New England, which kept them away six weeks. While in the east they saw their son, Seymour, who is working in New York and living there at the Princeton club, and their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Steiner, who was Miss Mary Louise Morris until June.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley and her debutante daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, are arriving from the east Wednesday and will be at their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive. Miss McClurg will be presented at a ball Dec. 27 at the Blackstone hotel.

Mrs. Cary Wood Thomas of Highland Park has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Hester Ann, to Raeburn Fotheringham Hay on Wednesday, Sept. 22, at half after four o'clock at the Exmoor Country club. Mr. Hay, who recently moved to New York from England, and his bride will be at home after Nov. 1 at 41 West 8th street, New York City.

Miss Martha Jane Thomas will attend her sister and the bride's brother, T. MacPherson Thomas, will be the bridegroom's best man. Ushering will be the bride's cousins, Arthur McDougall Wood, Robert McPherson Wood, Allan D. Wolff Jr., and Donald M. Wood Jr. The bride's father is Charles N. Thomas of New York City.

Parades Today Climax St. Charles Festival.

Labor day will be especially gay in St. Charles, where a three day fête will reach its climax in two parades today, one for children in the morning with "The Three Bears" as its theme, and another in the afternoon depicting the community past and present.

The celebration is being held in place of a drive to raise funds for the community chest. Historical floats and a pioneer train of the Chicago and North Western railway will have a place in the parade this afternoon. There also will be a float to advertise the Dunham Woods horse show next Sunday, with petite Mrs. Raymond O. Mitchell mounted side saddle on one of those practically extinct varnished wooden horses of horse and buggy days. Peter Dole will be her groom.

Frock Achieves Slim Lines

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

If you desire slim lines [and who doesn't, regardless of silhouette proportions?] this "corseted" frock is a good bet. It is strictly in the late autumn tradition, featuring plenty of soft shirring and molded contours, too.

The original of this dress is fashioned of sleek silk jersey, as shown in the sketch at the right. The tiny buttons in the waistline sector are novelty ruby ones. You have a choice of necklines for this frock. You may select a high one, as depicted at the left, or the draped bodice may be topped with a V neckline. Sleeves may be long or short. In either case, they are softly puffed at the shoulders and develop fitted lines at the elbow.

The skirt is nice, too. It has no plaits. All its graceful flare is acquired through the use of paneling.

As the sketch at the left illustrates, you may use a soft crêpe in a print for this model.

Style No. 2838 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

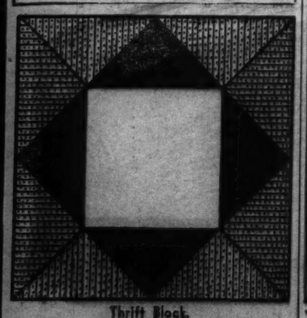
Alpha Sigma Phi National Session to Open at U. of I.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Approximately 300 delegates and guests from fifty-eight chapters throughout the country are expected to attend the national convention of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, which will be held at the Eta chapter house on the University of Illinois campus, starting Wednesday and continuing through Friday. Don C. Platt, 7824 Euclid avenue, Chicago, president of the local chapter, is chairman of the convention committee. Among business to be transacted at this year's meeting will be action on the petitions of fourteen new chapters asking for admission to the national organization.

Four Generations of Family Have Made This Quilt



Thrift Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is an extremely old quilt block which has been passed down through four generations in one family. The quilt first made was pieced from old garments. The next member of the family to make the quilt utilized the pieces from the scrapbag. The squares are set together forming an all-over design, and surrounded by a four inch border. The most recent "Thrift Block" was made in red, white, and ecru.

Worry, Anger and Discontent Foes of Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The constant worrier will do well to give her face a searching glance and, if for no other reason than the devastating effect worry has on her looks, she should learn to accept the daily happenings of life more philosophically. Worry puts those unbecoming wrinkles in the forehead; it contracts the brows.

Worriers get to the point where they are fearful some dreadful thing might happen, so much so that they allow fear to dominate them. In the majority of cases all the worry is about something that never really comes to happen. There certainly is no place for worry in the beauty ritual. It can make an ugly duckling out of a person who could very easily be a most attractive one.

Anger and discontent are other things that mar beauty. The discontented person is easily picked out in a group. The mouth is set in ugly lines, with mouth corners drooping. The eyes carry a look of unhappiness, and they are dulled. The face is without any semblance of good cheer or gayety, much less beauty. And discontented persons are the ones that most people like to avoid, for they are unable to find pleasure in anything. With them, everything that happens is subject to criticism. Those whom you think of as friends will be held up to criticism and about such inconsequential things that other persons, whose judgment is not warped by discontent, would not even notice. This discontent and inability on the part of the person to adjust himself to life is reflected in the face, destroying any beauty that nature may have planted there.

On the other hand there is nothing that gives the spirits the lift that contentment does, nor is there anything that is so delightfully reflected in the countenance. After all there is much about this world that is beautiful. We want to learn to look on the bright side, keep the lines and wrinkles out of our faces. Even massage will not offset these enemies to beauty if you are a worrier or a discontented person and refuse to change your views and your ways.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

ASKING BIDS:

AGREED SUIT BY INFERENCE.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is evident now to the reader that when a trump suit has not been agreed to by a raise, the asking bid is so constructed as always to jump just one trick higher than necessary for a regulation forcing response, provided the jump is to the level of four or higher. For instance:

South	North
1 heart	1 spade

4 diamonds: asking bid.

Spades will be trumps. Here a double jump is necessary to reach the level of four.

South	North
1 heart	1 spade

4 hearts: regulation bid.

Four hearts is not an asking bid, even though it is a double jump to a four level, because it is not a bid in a new suit.

South	North
1 spade	2 no trump

4 diamonds: asking bid.

Spades will be trumps. The two no trump bid is a game force. Consequently, three diamonds would have sufficed as a forcing bid.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	Pass	4 clubs
Double	4 hearts	Double [final bid]

North found himself in the position of a trapped trapper. He had kept passing innocently, but with inward chop licking, ready to pounce on a game contract, when, to his dismay, the opponents stopped dead in their tracks at three spades. Then he didn't know what to do. He refused to sell out to a less-than-game contract and, as a consequence, adopted the far worse course of entering the bidding at the four level. The final result was a four heart contract that few declarers would care to play.

West opened the spade ten, East won with the ace and, analyzing that declarer might be void of clubs, led a club up to dummy. It was vital, of course, to prevent West from laying down the club ace, if declarer had none. When declarer actually followed, West won the ace and made the obviously correct play of cashing the diamond ace. After that, however, West slipped. He could see no point in returning a club and felt that there was some chance that East could ruff a diamond continuation. This happy contingency did not exist, however. East had to follow. Declarer ruffed a diamond to reach his own hand, and let the heart ten ride. East won with the ace, and could make no return that would snare another trick. West's heart queen was captured on the next finesse.

After West had cashed his club and diamond aces, there was a play that fairly begged to be made, namely, the club ten. This would have raised the heart queen to the status of a sure trick. East, on taking the trump ace, would have returned a third club, and declarer could not have avoided being overruffed with the heart queen. There is considerable difference between a 500 and a 200 point penalty!

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer opened the bidding with one club. What should second hand do with the following:

♠ K Q 6 ♥ A Q 8 5 ♦ A K 6 3 ♣ 10 4 ?

Answer: Second hand should double.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We can't remember a season when there has been so much uncertainty about hair styles. From Paris we hear that hair will be swept high. On the other hand, we see women everywhere assiduously cultivating the long, long bob. And if you look closely at the smartest hats you'll see they're almost invariably of the line that demands fairly long hair.

Tomorrow night we're expecting to get first hand information for you. The Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association is opening its season with a style consultation at Hotel Sherman. Mme. Humble, the only woman member of the revered Coiffure guild of New York, has been imported to create original fall hair styles and to speak with the voice of authority as to style trends.

Mme. Humble is a gifted interpreter of hair fashions. She can sketch coiffures as artistically as she can create them with the comb and scissors. Working closely with the Coiffure guild, which in turn coöperates with fashion authorities, she is in a position to give the Chicago stylists excellent forecasts as to which way the hair style winds will blow this fall and winter.

Many members of the association from surrounding states are coming in for this meeting, at which as usual their president, Marc Gartman, will preside.

As the situation is now coiffure predictions are confusing. But after tomorrow we should have a clearer idea as to the lines into which our hair must fall. The stylists, with the assistance of the eastern authority, will settle the matter.

A sunny yellow layer cake with a sunny yellow frosting is something of a rarity in these chocolate cake days. Yet where may we look for finer flavor, finer texture, more tenderness among well baked cakes?

Three Yolk Gold Cake.

[2 9-inch layers]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup butter, margarine, or vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks beaten until thick
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon lemon extract

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift together three or four times. Cream the butter well and add the sugar gradually, beating until the mixture is very light. Add egg yolks, which have been beaten until thick and lemon colored. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until the batter is smooth. Add flavoring. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans for 25 to 30 minutes, at 375 degrees. Fill and frost with boiled frosting or lemon seven minute frosting. This recipe will make three dozen small cup cakes, or one loaf cake, baked in an 8 by 8 inch pan.

Lemon Seven Minute Frosting.

2 unbeaten egg whites
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Place egg whites, sugar, water, and lemon juice in the upper part of a double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly for seven minutes, or until the frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire and beat until thick enough to spread. Add grated lemon rind.

Six Yolk Gold Cake.

[2 9-inch layers]

½ cup vegetable shortening
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sugar
1¼ cups milk
6 egg yolks
2½ cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder

Combine shortening, salt, and vanilla. Add 1 cup of the sugar gradually, beating the mixture until light and fluffy. Dissolve the remaining sugar in the milk. Beat the egg yolks until very thick and light. Add to creamed mixture and beat well. Sift flour once before measuring. Resift three or four times with the baking powder. Add small amounts of flour to the creamed mixture alternately with the milk and sugar solution, beating well after each addition. Bake in two greased 9-inch pans at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Frost and fill with gold icing.

Gold Icing.

2 tablespoons vegetable shortening
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Cream shortening and butter with orange rind. Add salt and ½ cup confectioner's sugar and blend. Add egg yolk and beat well. Add remaining confectioner's sugar alternately with orange and lemon juice, beating the frosting until it becomes light and creamy.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate, Inc.]

Do your best—inspired by intelligence as well as affection—and then try not to worry about the results. I'm talking now about bringing up your children.

So often we do our best, our very best, and then worry about the outcome.

We worry not only about the immediate future but about the distant future, too.

We not only think, "O dear, suppose Peggy doesn't get along with the children in school any better than she does with Sue and Barbara, who live next door"—but we go on and borrow trouble, thinking, "O dear . . . suppose Peggy grows up into one of those girls who doesn't mix with other young people. . . . O dear, how unhappy she'll be."

It is right to take steps to remedy what seems to us to be wrong. But so often we worry like this, and later in life look back and think how foolish we were. What seemed like a permanent difficulty cleared up of itself.

Or conditions changed, income, neighborhood, companions, teacher, health, and rough edges were smoothed out, kinks in personality, or unhappiness or discontent disappeared.

Take the case of Peggy. She may have been a child of strong individuality, and her only two playmates for years, Sue and Barbara, may have been utterly uncongenial to her in every way: background, upbringing, interests, and personality. The friction resulting may not have been due to any lack on her part but to these circumstances. Going to school she would find a larger group, many congenial children, and an atmosphere conducive to social adjustment and peaceful play. And behold! Peggy blossoms into a sociable and even popular child.

Even when we can't always make conditions right at the time being—for after all we parents are often the victims of circumstances—usually our children will round out later on when given the opportunity. Their health improves and with it their disposition and friendliness; or the shyness engendered by loneliness disappears when they later live among other children.

We can't control every aspect of a child's environment to make it right for him. As I have said, family emotions and relationships, finances, health, teachers, playmates, and neighborhood may play a helpful or a hampering part in this life. All we can do is our best, with vision, and try not to worry about what lies ahead. Children outgrow so many things in the course of time, they adjust to so many things in the course of time, and so much is a matter of "phase" that we waste our precious energy in apprehensions.

SOX WIN, 5-2; PIRATES DEFEAT CUBS TWICE

3 RUNS IN 8TH DEFEAT TIGERS, DECIDE SERIES

Luke Appling Has Perfect Day.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—Roxie Lawson, with 17 victories and four defeats, was the American league's leading pitcher when he ate lunch this noon. That was before he met the frisky White Sox, who started a bit mildly, but eventually busted loose with a great verve to fashion a 5 to 2 victory and take the series from the Detroit Tigers, two games to one. The success, and a stirring one it was, though the 26,000 customers perhaps didn't think so, advanced the Sox to within one game of second place.

Inevitable Clint Brown was the winning pitcher, but the fact that Clint took over for Johnny Whitehead was no reflection on Johnny's casting. Whitehead held the Tigers to six hits in six innings and was getting better as he went along. He went out of the game to give Pinch Batter Larry Rosenthal a swing in the seventh. And Larry's swing, though it resulted in an out, drove in the run which effected a 2 to 2 tie. Brown allowed one single during his three inning term.

York Does His Part.

The Tigers scored first on Rudy York's 31st homer in the second inning. The Sox tied it in the fifth on the second of Luke Appling's three straight hits, a stolen base by Appling, and a single by Luke Sewell.

The Tigers resumed the lead after two were out in the fifth on Pete Fox's double and Charley Gehringer's single. The Sox tied the score again in the seventh on Appling's third single, a walk to Conners, an intentional pass, and Rosenthal's fly.

And then the eighth inning victory blast:

Dixie Walker walked on four pitches and stopped at third on Radcliff's only hit of the contest, a double to right. Appling rounded out a perfect day at bat with an intentional pass. Then Merv Conners banged a 400 foot fly which sent home Dixie with the winning run. Old Man Dykes clinched the game with a double which scored Radcliff and Appling, the latter's run being his third of the game.

Only One Hit Hurts.

At the end of three innings the Tigers had a total of four hits and the Sox a total of one infield single, but the only damage during the span was done by one of the Tiger hits, that homer by York which opened the second inning, an enormous shot over the left field scoreboard into a strong wind.

The Tigers started off with a rush in the third inning, but Whitehead was able to call a halt. G. Walker opened with a single to left and stole second. Walker held second while Fox was beating out a hit to Whitehead. Gehringer forced Fox, Greenberg fanned, and York was thrown out by Appling.

F. Walker singled with two out in the fourth for the second Chicago hit, but the inning ended with Radcliff's foul to Owen.

Ah! They Tie It.

The Sox tied the score and got a runner to third in the fifth despite the discouragement of successive strikeouts of Conners and Dykes. Appling opened with his second and the Sox's third hit, a single to center. Conners and Dykes then whiffed, but as Dykes went out Appling stole second. Sewell singled to left, scoring Appling, took second on the

IT'S HAWTHORNE OPENING DAY; EXPECT 30,000

$2,500 Handicap Heads Holiday Program.

BY FRENCH LANE.

One of Chicago's largest race track crowds of the year—probably 30,000 spectators—will gather today at Hawthorne, where the holiday program of eight races will open an early autumn season of 24 days.

It will be the first Labor day racing at Chicago's oldest course in many years, and Charles Krutckoff president of the Hawthorne association, declared last night that the advance demand for tickets was the heaviest on record.

A revamping of the clubhouse, grand stand and lawn facilities will make it possible for larger crowds to be more comfortably handled at Hawthorne this year than ever before. These changes hurriedly were made after each succeeding meeting in the Chicago district this season had shown an increase in patronage for the first time since 1932.

$2,500 Handicap Heads Program.

Toplining the opening program will be the $2,500 added Labor Day handicap for 2 year olds. Few better fields have been brought together for a juvenile race in the country this season.

It includes Teddy's Comet, which ran a dead heat with Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Tiger in the rich Arlington Futurity; Mrs. Bryant Ott's colt Employer, the only juvenile in the country, with the exception of Tiger, that has run six furlongs as fast as 1:11 1-5 this year; Co-Sport, holder of the Lincoln Fields 5½ furlongs track record of 1:04 4-5, and ten other top notch 2 year olds which have raced in the west this season.

Teddy's Comet will carry top weight of 126 pounds. Despite that large package, he likely will rule as the favorite, as he has a capable running companion in Lassator, also a stakes race winner, which showed splendid form in his three engagements at Lincoln Fields.

Entry Likely 5 to 2 Choice.

It is expected that the entry will rule at about 5 to 2 in the betting with Co-Sport the second choice at 4 to 1 and Employer next in line at 5 to 1.

Sharing honors with the Labor Day handicap will be the Inaugural purse, a six furlong event for older sprinters. This race has attracted such speedsters as Silverette; Golden Era, an easy winner in his last outing at Saratoga; Colonel Ed, Grey Streak, Veeks, and Boston Sound. The favorite probably will be Silverette, but the price against her may be as much as 3 to 1.

All stables at Hawthorne and at nearby Sportsman's Park are filled to capacity with more than 1,000 horses. Many of them moved in yesterday from Lincoln Fields. Others arrived from New York, the Thistledown track in Ohio, from Canada, and from New England.

Jocky Colony Is Strong.

The jocky colony, headed by Bobby Dotter, who has moved into fourth place in the battle for American riding honors this year, is one of the best ever assembled at Hawthorne. It includes the brilliant apprentice Paul Ryan, who during the closing days of the Lincoln Fields season was galloping past the winning post more often than Dotter.

During the 24 day meeting there will be a purse and stake distribution of $225,000, with no purse worth less than $800.

C. J. Fitz Gerald, Bruce Head, and Will Shelley are the stewards. Buddy Wingfield will be the starter and Joseph A. Murphy is honorary steward. The judges will be Pat C. Galliger, Larry Boganschutz, and Sidney S. Brown. Julius G. Reeder is racing secretary and handicapper.

Heavy Betting Expected.

That the track expects nearly a record betting day for the opening was indicated yesterday when President Krutckoff issued orders that all betting windows, both on the selling and cashier sides, be put into operation.

This would indicate that the holiday racing throng will speculate to the extent of more than half a million dollars on the outcome of the eight races.

Auditors Are Locked Out at Narragansett

Providence, R. I., Sept. 5.—(AP)—In the midst of a battle over the managing directorship of Walter E. O'Hara's Narragansett race track, Gov. Robert E. Quinn tonight announced that state auditors sent to examine the racing plant's books had "temporarily" been balked.

The governor, who has backed the state racing commission in its ruling that O'Hara must relinquish the post, reported the examiners had been "locked out," but added:

"I'll send the auditors back, and I'll give them all the force they need in carrying out the racing division's orders, even to calling out the state police and militia."

Intimidation Is Charged.

Charges of "politics" were made and denied after the racing commission ordered O'Hara's removal, contending he had tried to "intimidate" a racing steward. O'Hara termed this accusation "ridiculous" and said those seeking his removal were attempting to "vent their spleen on one who has not always agreed with them politically." Gov. Quinn asserted later there was "no politics involved."

Quinn and O'Hara, both Democrats, are members of opposing factions of the party in Rhode Island.

O'Hara, in addition to his racing interests, recently assumed complete control of the Providence Star-Tribune. Francis J. Kiernan, chairman of the state racing commission, in announcing the order that O'Hara be removed from his track post, stated that the Narragansett Racing association had been absolved of a charge of rule violation in barring a Providence Journal-Bulletin reporter from the track's press box. O'Hara contended the reporter was not making use of the facilities in the press box. The Star-Tribune and the Bulletin are rivals in the afternoon field in Providence.

He's Out, They Claim.

Neither Kiernan nor Gov. Quinn would elaborate on the reason for the audit, but Quinn declared "the commission is acting perfectly within its rights in asking to look at the association's books."

A corps of auditors, led by Raymond Appleby of the office of the state budget director, went to the track this morning, Quinn said, and were denied admittance by Raymond J. McMahon, attorney for O'Hara.

Gov. Quinn and commissioner Kiernan both reiterated their claims that O'Hara was "in our minds no longer managing director of the track."

"As an individual," Quinn said, "O'Hara can visit the track but steps will be taken if he attempts to carry out any duties of a managing director."

"To charge that I did threaten and intimidate a 200 pound six footer—James Doorley—is ridiculous," O'Hara said. Doorley is racing steward.

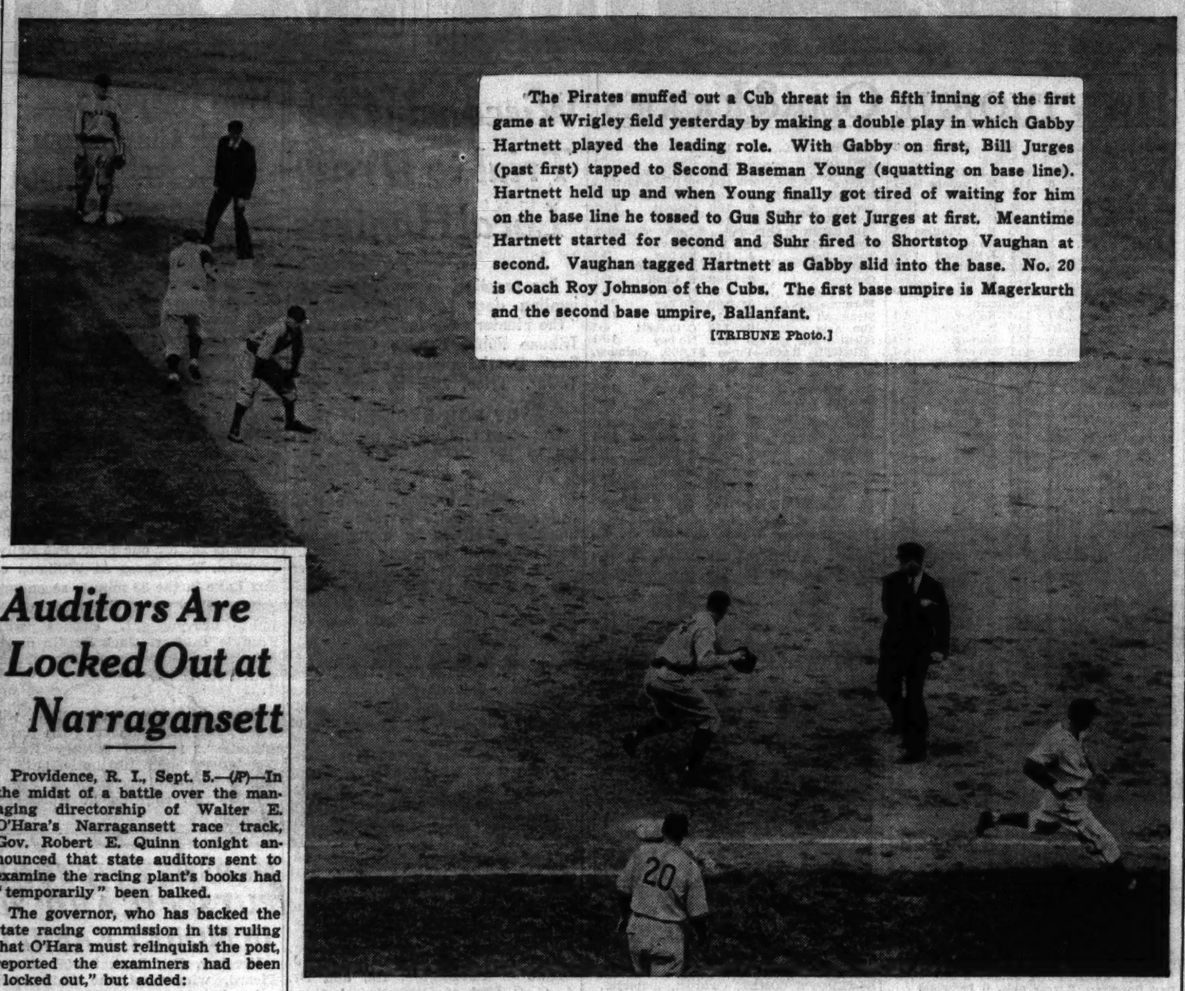
THE HARD WAY, BUT HARTNETT MAKES IT EASY



The Pirates snuffed out a Cub threat in the fifth inning of the first game at Wrigley field yesterday by making a double play in which Gabby Hartnett played the leading role. With Gabby on first, Bill Jurges (past first) tapped to Second Baseman Young (squatting on base line). Hartnett held up and when Young finally got tired of waiting for him on the base line he tossed to Gus Suhr to get Jurges at first. Meantime Hartnett started for second and Suhr fired to Shortstop Vaughan at second. Vaughan tagged Hartnett as Gabby slid into the base. No. 20 is Coach Roy Johnson of the Cubs. The first base umpire is Magerkurth and the second base umpire, Ballanfant.

Well, Who Doubts It?

Twenty-three players from Big Ten schools on the All-Star roster, six of them starting the game. Ten formerly with Big Ten schools playing with the Packers, five of them as starters. A total of 33 out of 95 were from one conference. These statistics prove that the midwest and the Big Ten especially is overwhelmingly the greatest football section in the country. Wehrle Beats Kocsis; Takes Western Title

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Wilford Wehrle, 22 year old star from Racine, Wis., won the 38th western amateur golf tournament today, defeating Charles [Chuck] Kocsis of Detroit, 1 up in 36 holes.

One up as they came to the final hole, Wehrle reached the green 30 feet from the cup. Kocsis was already on 8 feet away and ready to sink it to square the battle.

Kocsis Rallies Fast.

Wehrle lined up his putt quickly and sank it—running to the cup behind it. It gave him a birdie 3—his eighth of the two rounds—and the match.

Kocsis, 1936 national intercollegiate champion from Michigan, went into the afternoon round 4 down as the morning saw Wilford card a 69, two under par. Chuck had 76.

Undismayed, Kocsis bore down and by the 29th he was only one down. It was the nearest he came to overhauling the eventual winner.

Recovery Shots Help.

Wehrle could thank his remarkable recovery shots as well as his putting touch. He showed it to advantage on the 30th, when he overshot the green and the crowd and came back to pitch up a foot from the pin.

On the 32d Wehrle hooked his second into a trap on the 33d green. His third came out under low hanging trees to the fairway and he pitched up 8 feet from the pin. Kocsis had a 4 foot putt for a birdie to square the match, but it wouldn't go down. Wehrle sank his 8 footer.

Steel Replaces Wooden Goal Posts on Coast

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Steel goal posts have been installed at Kezar stadium here to replace wooden posts which were torn down after nearly every game last year. The mob-proof posts, said Stadium Manager Joe Hickey, are less bother than ordinary ones and less expensive than the new electrically wired posts which give off a shock when touched.

BEARS BATTLE ALL-STARS OF SOUTH TONIGHT

Chicago Pros Will Seek Revenge at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears, National Professional league football team, and their collegiate opponents, the Pan-American All-Stars, took final workouts tonight in preparation for the southwest's big game in the Cotton bowl at the Greater Texas and Pan-American exposition tomorrow night.

Sammy Baugh, former Texas Christian university quarter back, is captain of the All-Stars. George Musso, former Millikin college tackle, has been named by George Halas, coach and owner, to lead the Bears in their effort to wipe out the defeat of 1936 in Dallas at the hands of the collegians.

Forecast of cooler weather by game time was cheering news to both camps as they perspired through the last round of limbering up exercises. Unless rain interferes, a crowd of 40,000 is expected in the Cotton bowl.

Greatest Game for South.

The game will offer a battle between perhaps the two strongest elevens ever matched in the south. From eighteen colleges and universities located in eleven states, James H. Stewart, director of the game for the exposition, combed the outstanding senior players who comprise the thirty man Pan-American squad.

Sparkplug of the All-Stars is Baugh. While the Texas Christian star is on the sidelines the collegians plan to dazzle the Bears with Raymond [Buzz] Buivid of Marquette university. The coaches, Matty Bell of Southern Methodist and Dutch Meyer of T. C. U., admit that the squad is much stronger, offensively at least, than last year, and that it has greater reserve strength. They plan to shoot the works from start to finish and defy the pros to run up more touchdowns. Backing the passing will be brilliant kicking, speed, power and blocking that was lacking on the 1936 team.

Halas Wants Revenge.

Coach Halas is keen to avenge last year's setback. The Chicago eleven has great power, despite the absence of Bronko Nagurski, full back, who is engaged in professional wrestling. The pros have trained hard and the heat should not affect them noticeably, for they reported plenty of warm weather in their northern camp.

The professionals are the underdogs in the minds of southwestern football fans, who will be keenly disappointed if the collegians fail to win.

The collegians' coaches were uncertain tonight on the starting lineup, particularly whether Baugh would be sent in for the kickoff.

TRIUMPH, 7-0; TAKE 2D, 4 TO 1, UNDER PROTEST

Bruins Trail Giants by Two Games.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The recently gay Cubs crashed against another stone wall yesterday in their contemplated drive back to the top of the National league. In fact they hit the wall twice, being splattered by Pittsburgh's Pirates, 7 to 0 and 4 to 1, in a double-header. However, the Cub chief, Charley Grimm, will protest the latter defeat. Because of the day's failures the Chicagoans now are trailing the pace-making Giants by two games.

In the first of the two disappointing struggles Larry French was carried away by the bats of the Pirates, whereas the Cub bats were stilled by that noted patriarch, Red Lucas. In the second engagement Clay Bryant was brilliant enough so far as hits were concerned, wildness giving the Pirates most of their runs, but the home troops were pinch-feeble against Ed Brandt and Rescuer Mace Brown.

Lucas Is Red Hot.

Lucas' pitching in the first game was so dazzling that the Cubs got only six hits, all singles. There was only one inning in which they had more than one runner on base. Only two of them reached second and none went beyond. That, however, doesn't represent all of Lucas' work. He made himself doubly comfortable by singling with the bases full to score three men in the fourth. Part of what happened later was due to Clyde Shoun's presence.

Bryant set off at such a dizzy pace in the second game that he didn't yield a hit until the fourth inning. In the fifth he walked three, and, with the help of the unusual decision which induced Manager Grimm to protest the outcome the gratuities resulted in two runs. Bryant reached the end of the eighth with only two Pirate hits against his record, but he surrendered two in the ninth, and these, with his own error, gave the Pirates two more runs.

Decision Brings Protest.

The decision which forced Umpire Lee Ballanfant to be a good listener before 34,091 customers and a flock of irate Cubs in the fifth hinged on the long standing rule about a base runner traveling out of line to avoid being tagged. Ballanfant decided Brandt was guilty of this offense, while the Cubs, knowing nothing of the decision, made a force play at the plate which they learned a moment later wasn't anything of the kind.

The stormy inning opened with a pass to Dickshot, who reached second safely by beating Hack's throw on Brubaker's bunt. Bryant got himself partly out of the jam by fanning Young, but promptly pitched himself in deeper by filling the bases on a walk to Padden. Bryant's generosity continued when he walked Brandt, forcing Dickshot to score. Then Ballanfant touched off the fireworks.

Brandt Swerves Out of Line.

Lloyd Waner grounded to Herman who was in the vicinity of first base and a bit back of a straight line between first and second. As Herman reached for the bounder Brandt, apparently to avoid interference, swerved in front of him. Not knowing that Ballanfant had ruled Brandt out for traveling by a circuitous route, Herman threw to the plate in time to force Brubaker.

Just as Umpire-in-Chief Magerkurth called Brubaker out, Ballanfant, pointing to Brandt, yelled, "And you are out, too." That was the first the Cub knew about his ruling. Thinking the side was retired, they started off the field. The Pirates, having heard Ballanfant's belated declaration, dashed up to inform Magerkurth that with Brandt eliminated as a base runner there could be no force play at the plate. So Magerkurth ruled Brubaker safe.

A dozen or more Cubs immediately swarmed around Ballanfant. Ballan-

SOPWITH TAKES HOME LESSON IN YACHT DESIGNING

Cup Series Teaches Him Worth of Tank Tests.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—Now that the season for heavyweight yachting has ended, with Harold S. [Mike] Vanderbilt's sloop Ranger turning in a phenomenal string of victories, sailors with an eye to the future are weighing the lessons learned from the racing this summer.

Why should Ranger win so consistently over the new British yacht, Tom Sopwith's Enedeavour II.? That's what the British invaders want to know. If they find out they may have better luck on their next attempt to lift the America's cup from American yachtsmen, who have successfully defended the old mug since 1851.

In this year's series Ranger gave the new Endeavour a thorough beating by winning four straight races. But that isn't all. Last Thursday in the final race of the big J class sloops, Ranger won her twenty-eighth start of the season. The cup defender lost only two races, both due to fluky and capricious winds. Sopwith is sailing for England Wednesday, a sadder and perhaps wiser man.

Big Factor Is Vanderbilt.

The explanation of Ranger's superiority over the pride of England's yachting is that she was better skippered and better designed. And the major factor in Ranger's success, the experts say, was Mike Vanderbilt himself, the world's champion skipper.

Vanderbilt, who has an enormous capacity for activity in that he manages far flung railroad interests and is an authority on contract bridge, has been sailing boats since boyhood. Sopwith, the airplane builder with an intimate knowledge of air currents, did not take up yachting until he had reached middle age. The difference between the two skippers was never more marked than in their training before their first race off Newport, R. I.

Vanderbilt whipped his crew into shape like a martinet and drove himself as hard as any one. In the preliminary trials, when Ranger won handily over the other American candidates, Rainbow and Yankee, Vanderbilt's crew leaped about like college sprinters at the crack of a gun whenever the skipper barked out a command.

Sopwith Putters About.

On the other hand Sopwith dawdled about the ocean, putting his Endeavour II. and Endeavour I. up to various capers. The other American skippers offered to race Sopwith, but he declined. He went on experimenting in a leisurely way up to the last few days before the series, when Endeavour was put through some fairly rigorous paces.

But Endeavour went into the series green and uncertain, while Ranger was tuned to concert pitch. The result was inevitable. Vanderbilt trimmed Sopwith by the widest margin in any cup race during the last half century. After a second and worse drubbing Sopwith hauled Endeavour out of the water to look, perhaps hopefully, for a lobster pot that might have caught on her underbody and slowed her up. There was none.

Midway in the series Sopwith practically conceded defeat in an interview, but the British skipper gave all the credit to the American designers, who, he said, had turned out the swiftest J class sloop in cup history.

Science vs. Intuition.

If Sopwith's contentions are true, the cup races this year were a triumph for science over good looks, because Ranger with its stubby bow looked like a frankfurter in a bun, while the blue hulled Endeavour was a thing of beauty with flowing lines. "Beautiful but dumb," one sailor described it.

Ranger was a laboratory baby, having been developed through an ancestry of three foot models in a specially built towing tank at the Stevens Institute of Technology, where hull resistance was tested by Prof. Kenneth S. M. Davidson. The tests were made under the direction of Ranger's co-designers, the veteran W. Starling Burgess and the youthful Olin Stephens. At the same time, in England, Charles Nicholson, noted marine architect, spurned the tank tests and designed Endeavour II. by intuition rather than cold blooded calculations.

Sopwith has said that he wants to come back and try for the third time to win the old mug, but publicly has declared that England is about three years behind the United States in tank tests. It remains to be seen whether Yankee ingenuity will again be ahead of the British should they invade American waters three or four years hence. All things even, the boat still has to be sailed well to win.

DEATH OF BOOTH DEALS A BLOW TO OHIO STATE HOPES

Columbus, O., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Ohio State's football prospects were dealt a severe blow today by the death of Bill Booth, half back, who died after suffering a fractured skull in a car-truck crash.

Booth was regarded as one of the outstanding ball carriers in the Big Ten and was expected to carry the brunt of the Buckeyes' attack in the championship race. He established himself as one of the conference's most elusive ball carriers last fall when he ran through Illinois for a touchdown.

Booth was 22 years old and was the son of Mrs. Edwin Booth of Newell, W. Va. He had been working at Weirton, W. Va., and was en route to Newell when his car crashed into a truck at East Liverpool, O. He died in a hospital at East Liverpool early this morning.

Picard Takes Hershey Open; Guldahl Is 2d

Hershey, Pa., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Breaking par by one stroke on the final round despite an all day rain, Henry Picard, hometown pro, today won the $5,000 Hershey Open golf tournament for the second straight year. He shot a 72 for a seventy-two hole total of 280, twelve under par. The score broke the previous record of 286 made by Ky Laffoon of Denver three years ago.

Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, National Open champion, who led Picard by a stroke at the end of fifty-four holes yesterday, got off to a bad start today, taking sixes on the first, third, and fourth holes for a 76 and a 283. This gave him second prize.

Ray Mangrum of Dayton, O., who tied Guldahl for the first round lead, fell below par for the first time with a 75 to finish third with 285. Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y., won fourth money with a par 73 for a 289, while Sam Byrd of Philadelphia, former major league ball player, posted a 74 to take fifth with 293.

The list of money winners and their final seventy-two hole scores:

Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa. [280]. $1,200.
Ralph Guldahl, Chicago [283]. $750.
Ray Mangrum, Dayton, O. [285], $550.
Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y. [289], $450.
Sam Byrd, Philadelphia [293], $350.
Ed Dudley, Philadelphia [294], $285.
Gene Sarazen, Brookfield Center, Conn. [294], $285.
Johnny Revolta, Chicago [296], $230.
Jack Grout, Hershey, Pa. [297], $166.66.
Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del. [297], $166.67.
Wiffy Cox, Washington, D. C. [297], $166.67.

Alick Girard Jr. of Southampton, N. Y., captured amateur honors with a 79 for a 309 total to beat Francis Ford of Charleston, S. C. Billy Haverstrick Jr. of Lancaster, Pa., low amateur yesterday with 229, took an 83 for 312.

WOODRUFF WINS 800 METER RUN IN TOKIO MEET

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—John Woodruff, University of Pittsburgh, won the 800 meter run in 1:54.5 today in the second day of a track meet between American and Japanese teams in which the invaders took six first places, although no formal point score was tallied.

Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin finished second to Woodruff in the 800, with Kiyoshi Nakamura of Japan third. Jack Weiershauser of San Francisco's Olympic club won both the 400 meter hurdles and the 200 meter dash. Weiershauser won the hurdles in :54.5. Tokio Fukuda was second.

Wisconsin Dog Trial to Draw Local Hunters

For practical information about hunting dogs read Bob Becker's "The Hunter's Guide." On sale at Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25c; by mail, 40c.

BY BOB BECKER.

Waterfowl and upland game hunters in the Chicagoland area may doubtless want to reserve Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 11 and 12, for a trip to Palmyra, Wis., where they will have a chance to reduce their hunting fever and see a number of well trained hunting dogs in action.

The occasion is the first retriever trial ever held in the state of Wisconsin. The sponsor of this interesting event is the Wisconsin Amateur Field Trial Club, Inc.

A Short Jaunt.

The Chesapeake Bay retrievers, Labradors, goldens and Irish water spaniels will not get all of the spotlight at this trial, for in addition to stakes for these breeds, there also will be stakes for springer spaniels.

Palmyra is within easy reach of Chicago. It is located a short distance north and a little west of Elkorn, Wis., and is a few minutes' drive northeast of Whitewater. There will be signs along the highway leading from Palmyra to the field trial grounds so visitors should have no trouble finding the marsh where the dogs will work.

Hogan, Gifford Judge.

The judges will be Martin J. Hogan of Barrington, Ill., and Dr. A. C. Gifford of Oshkosh. A third judge will be added to the staf for the Sunday stakes. This department had hopes of being able to accept a judge's rôle for the interesting open stakes to be run Sunday but we cannot be on hand for the fun.

CHICAGO LAWN BOWLING CLUB WINS A TITLE

The Chicago Lawn Bowling club of Washington park won the thirteenth annual midwest rink team championship yesterday at the Lakeside rinks in Jackson park.

The winning foursome, led by Sam Hajney, defeated its clubmates, the McArthur family, national all-around champions, 20 to 12. Other members of the championship team were John MacDonald, Orlando Simpson, and Donald McKay.

The Thomas Rodger foursome of the Chicago Lawn Bowling club won the Griffith trophy by defeating the A. J. Jarman team of the Lakeside club, 23 to 14. Two more championships will be decided this afternoon, when the doubles and singles matches end.

Ivan Rasputin, Jack Claybourn Wrestle Tonight

With the boxing show scheduled at Marigold Gardens tonight, headed by a 10 round bout between Davey Day, Chicago lightweight title threat, and Charley Gomer of Brooklyn, put off until tomorrow because of the Labor Day holiday, fans will have to depend on professional wrestling and amateur boxing for their entertainment. The mat show tonight will be at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, and the amateur boxing card at Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard.

Ivan Rasputin, heavyweight, and Jack Claybourn of Portland, Ore., top the program at White City. The match is set for one hour. Pat Kelly, Houston, Tex., faces Al Williams of Fox Lake in the 30 minute secondary feature. Billy Goelz, shifty south side light heavyweight, clashes with Frankie Talaber. Jack Purdin meets Mike Kilonis and Tommy Mix clashes with Pete Holtz.

Frank McBride, middleweight, will meet Jimmy Davenport of the Savoy Athletic club, and Mickey Revey, Northwest gym featherweight, is paired with Al Upchurch of Evanston in two contests at Northwest stadium.

HERSHEY VICTORY PUTS PICARD 2D IN MONEY EARNED

YANKEES RESUME OLD WAYS—BEAT SENATORS, 10-5

Gehrig's 32d Home Run Leads 13 Hit Attack.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The New York Yankees reclaimed some of that lost batting punch today and increased their lead in the American league race to eleven games by defeating the Senators, 10 to 5. The Yankees pounded four Washington pitchers for 13 hits, including Lou Gehrig's thirty-second home run of the season.

INDIANS WIN TWO.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—(AP)—After defeating the Browns in the first game of a double-header, 9 to 5, the Cleveland Indians encountered more stubborn opposition in the second game, but won with the aid of a double steal, 2 to 1.

The double steal, by Bruce Campbell and Julius Solters, came in the eighth inning, Solters scoring.

MOON MULLINS—NOT LETTING BYGONES BE BYGONES

Reds Win, 3-2; Then Lose to Warneke, 1-0

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Reds scored three runs on four hits in one inning to take the first game from the Cardinals, 3 to 2, today, but lost the final game of a double-header, 1 to 0.

The second game was a pitchers' battle between Lon Warneke and Al Hollingsworth, each allowing only four hits. Moore scored the only run in the third when Riggs fumbled a grounder by Medwick.

The Reds' rally in the first game came in the sixth when Myers bunted, Schott singled, and Walker doubled, scoring Myers. Schott and Walker scored on Goodman's single.

LONG WINS U. S. CHECKER TITLE WHEN RYAN QUITS

Martins Ferry, O., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Asa Long of Toledo, world checker champion, won the United States title today when Willie Ryan of New York withdrew from the finals after he and Long had played eight draw games in 12 hours.

Ryan, whose action dumfounded Long and officials of the American Checker association, explained he was exhausted after playing for two weeks in the national tournament and thought the match would continue indefinitly.

He left immediately for Elizabeth, Pa., to meet Newell Banks of Detroit in an exhibition match.

Lyons and Lee Face Cleveland for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—The White Sox will play morning and afternoon games in Cleveland Municipal stadium tomorrow, both games for one admission, which also includes admission to the peep show, hoochie-coochies and other exhibits at the Great Lakes exposition. Ted Lyons will pitch the morning game, Thornton Lee in the afternoon. Bob Feller and Lloyd Brown will work for the Indians.

There were several thousand topcoats and no shirt sleeves in today's crowd of 26,000.

As his legs get tireder and tireder Manager Dykes gets madder and madder at Zeke Bonura, whom he accused of stalling since agents reported that Zeke, suffering from a complication of muscle misery and microphone itch, has tripped the light fantastic over some gleaming ballroom floor almost every night since he was discharged from a hospital. Under the terms of Bonura's contract he can be shipped to his home without pay for the remainder of the season on two weeks' notice to get in shape.

The White Sox will return to Chicago for a day off Tuesday instead of going from Cleveland to St. Louis, where they open Wednesday. The plan was made when the heat wave was raging.

throw to the plate and third on a passed ball. Then Whitehead contributed the third strikeout of the inning.

Trouble Starts Again.

The one-all tie lasted until after the first two men were retired in the Tiger fifth. Then Fox doubled to left and scored on Gehringer's first hit in two days, a single to right. Conners made a nice play back of third to throw out Greenberg.

Here's the way the White Sox again tied it in the seventh: Appling beat out a single for his third straight hit and Conners walked. Luke and Merv moved up on Dykes' sacrifice and Sewell was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Larry Rosenthal batted for Whitehead and flied to G. Walker, Appling scoring the tying run. Hayes tapped to Gehringer.

The Deciding Stroke Falls.

The Sox's three run splurge in the eighth started with one down when F. Walker walked on four pitches. Radcliff doubled to right, Walker stopping at third. Appling was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Conners ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then sent Laabs back 400 feet for his drive, F. Walker scoring to put the Sox ahead, and Radcliff taking third. Dykes doubled along the left foul line, scoring Radcliff from third and Appling from first. Sewell flied to G. Walker.

The Tigers kicked up a minor rumpus in the home eighth. Gehringer walked with one down and Greenberg was called out on strikes. York missed two strikes, then singled to right, Gehringer taking third. Goslin batted for Laabs and was called out on strikes.

Pirates Turn Back Cubs Twice, 7-0, 4-1

fant's explanation didn't sound logical to the Cubs so they offered their version. Their contention was that if Brandt had swerved to avoid being tagged, Herman would have known it and thrown to first base for a double play. From the stands it was apparent that Herman made no effort to tag Brandt. After he saw that talk was futile Grimm served notice of his protest and the inning was completed without further difficulty.

The rule covering such plays is simple. A base runner, if the object of a tag, must stay within three feet of a direct line between bases, or be out. If the fielder of a ball is in the direct line between bases the runner, if he is not in the play, is privileged to swerve back of the fielder. Herman was slightly behind this imaginary straight line between first and second and Brandt swerved in front of him an instant before the Cub second baseman picked up the ball. The rule was devised to protect the fielding team against scheming base runners. Ballanfant's interpretation helped the team at bat.

FIRST GAME

French had no trouble accomplishing the first two outs in the disastrous fourth inning of the first game, but the third retirement wasn't so easily attained. Suhr singled with one out and after Todd had been thrown out, Dickshot slammed a triple into the right field corner, scoring Suhr. Brubaker walked and when he stole second, it was decided to complete an intentional pass to Young. French continued to be wild against Lucas, but the latter finally looped a single into left center, scoring Dickshot, Brubaker, and Young.

The Cubs, who had nicked Lucas for only two hits in five innings, might have made headway against the old fellow in the sixth if P. Waner hadn't intervened. With one out French singled off Young's shin. Hack spanked a drive into the wind. It appeared to be a home run, but the wind blew the ball down until everybody was willing to settle for a double, but Paul leaped up in front of the new brick wall in right and made a one handed catch. Galan followed with a single to right. The flurry ceased when Frey tapped to the pitcher.

Pirates Pile It On.

French was separated from three hits and a pass in the seventh, but the assortment netted the Pirates only one run. The pass went to Young, who led off. He was forced on Lucas' intended sacrifice. L. Waner squirmed loose for the first time and singled to right. Brother Paul popped a foul to Hack, but Vaughan singled and Lucas dashed home. Suhr also singled, a scratch off Cavarretta's glove, but with the bases loaded, French fanned Todd.

The two cut rate runs picked up by the Pirates in the ninth began with Hack's fumble on L. Waner. Brother Paul slipped a single into left. Vaughan tapped an easy double play ball to Shoun, but the latter lacked aim. He threw it into center field, L. Waner scoring and Paul going to third, whence he counted on Suhr's forceout of Vaughan. Todd then fanned for the second time and Jurges threw out Dickshot.

SECOND GAME

Until the Pirates came up with their first hit off Bryant in the fourth inning of the second game their only base runner was the result of a pass. Bryant walked L. Waner to open the game. Vaughan scratched a hit to Jurges after two were out in the fourth. Meantime the Cubs had chance after chance to annoy Brandt, but he refused to be annoyed. After getting two runs on no hits in the funny fifth the Pirates came up with their second hit off Bryant when Suhr beat out a bunt in the sixth.

The seventh presented another of the many opportunities the Cubs had, but they were shut off with only one run. Brandt fanned Cavarretta for the third time and walked Stainback. Bryant singled and when Dickshot fumbled the ball the two runners moved up a base. Hack caromed a single off Brandt's glove to score Stainback and put Bryant on third. Brown came to Brandt's rescue and Galan grounded to Suhr. On this play Bryant was run down between third and home. Herman, trying to dodge a pitch, tapped to Suhr for the third out.

Suhr walked to open the ninth and was safe at second when Bryant threw wild on Dickshot's bunt. Brubaker bounced a bunt over Bryant's head, filling the bases. Suhr and Dickshot went home on Young's single after which Bryant recovered control of the situation.

SIT STRIKE JUDGE ASSAILS DECISION FAVORING C. I. O.

Points to Testimony in Fansteel Case.

Judge Theodore Forby of Zion, who sentenced 39 men to jail for violating an injunction against occupying the plant of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation in a sitdown strike at North Chicago last February, took issue yesterday with the ruling of a national labor relations board examiner that the company was to blame for the seizure of its property by a C. I. O. union.

The board examiner, Tilford E. Dudley, a young lawyer, handed down his decision Saturday. Besides finding the company at fault in the strikers' occupation of the plant, a $1,500,000 structure, he ordered Fansteel officials to reinstate 83 dismissed employés, 59 of whom took part in the strike, and to pay $70,000 in back wages to 67 of them.

Judge Opposes Examiner.

Judge Forby presided at the trial of the strikers because they protested that Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady, who issued the injunction, would be prejudiced. In his home at Zion yesterday, Judge Forby declared that his view of the case was diametrically opposite to that taken by Dudley.

"I still adhere to my view," Judge Forby said. "The examiner says that the Fansteel company failed to take steps to negotiate with the union. But the evidence before me was clear cut that the company was willing to negotiate.

"I am confident that my decision, sentencing 39 of the strikers to jail and fining them for violating the order restraining them from occupation of the plant, will be upheld by the higher courts. I am just as confident that the trial examiner's findings will be reversed by the higher courts."

Dudley Defends Delay.

Dudley, the examiner, who was visiting his parents at Charleston, Ill., yesterday, asserted that his ruling was delayed because he was assigned to other hearings immediately after the Fansteel case.

"I was sent to Cumberland, Me.; Vernon, Tex., and New York City," he said, "because the board is short on examiners. My report in the Fansteel case was written on Sundays and in any spare time I could find. I found discrepancies in the testimony of both company officials and strikers, but the company appeared to be mostly in the wrong."

Sir Albert Levy, Noted Philanthropist, Is Dead

[Copyright; 1937; By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Sir Albert Levy, founder of the Ardath Tobacco Co., Ltd., and one of Britain's most widely known philanthropists, died today. He was 73 years old. He gave not only money but much of his time to the Royal Free hospital of which he was treasurer for many years. His gift of $250,000 to the hospital ward in 1928 enabled it to obtain $200,000 pledged by George Eastman for a dental clinic and he was rewarded with knighthood. In 1929 he set up a $1,250,000 fund to be distributed to charities within 25 years.

M. J. O'Rourke, 68, Dies; Policeman for 36 Years

Michael J. O'Rourke, 7432 Euclid avenue, a Chicago policeman for more than 36 years, died yesterday in his home at the age of 68. A native of County Limerick, Ireland, he came to Chicago at the age of 20. He served at the Woodlawn police station for more than 20 years and retired in December, 1931. Funeral services will be at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at St. Philip Neri church, with burial in Mount Olivet cemetery. He is survived by three children, James, Harry, and Cecilia.

Sales Official Found Dead at Wheel in Home Garage

Walter H. Eckert, 40 years old, 1742 North New England avenue, assistant sales manager of the General Electric Supply company, 350 North Ogden avenue, was found dead yesterday in his automobile in a garage in the rear of his home. An examination will be made to learn whether a heart attack or fumes from the car caused his death. His widow, Mrs. Lila Eckert, and a son, Robert, 10 years old, survive.

John Hicks, 11 years old, 4062 North Melvina avenue, who ran away from home three days ago, was handed over to police yesterday by Miss Elizabeth Johnson, 35 years old, 3851 Schubert avenue, when he entered a restaurant at 136 South Wabash avenue and asked for food. William Hicks, the boy's uncle, said he had run away from home several times.

W. J. Sack, Elevated Lines Official, Dies on Auto Trip

W. J. Sack, assistant superintendent of the north side division of the elevated lines, died of a heart attack yesterday in Ames, Ia., according to word received by relatives. He and his family were on a motor trip. The exertion of straightening a fender after an accident was blamed for the attack. Mr. Sack, who was 50 years old, lived at 4424 North Albany avenue.

Motorist Killed While He Changes Tire on Roadway

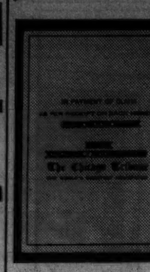
New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—While changing a tire early today on the Grand Central parkway on Long Island, Edward Roth of New Rochelle was killed by an automobile driven by Albert Dempsey of Flushing. The left rear wheel of Roth's car, on which he was working, was in the roadway, detectives said.

Mother Paid $1,000 on Tribune Policy



Facsimile of check given to Mrs. Eleanor T. Simpson under accident insurance policy taken out by her son, who was killed in trafic accident.

MRS. RYERSON, 78, DIES; WIDOW OF PHILANTHROPIST

Mrs. Carrie Hutchinson Ryerson, widow of Martin A. Ryerson, art collector and philanthropist, died yesterday in her summer home at Lake Geneva, Wis., at the age of 78 after a brief illness. Her husband, who was president of the University of Chicago board of trustees from 1892 to 1922 and honorary president of the Art institute, died Aug. 11, 1932.

Mrs. Ryerson, a native of Gloversville, N. Y., came to Chicago with her father, Charles Hutchinson, at the age of 6. She was married to Mr. Ryerson in 1881, and helped him amass his famous art collection. She also was active in the Cordon club. Her winter home was at 4851 Drexel boulevard.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Lake Geneva home at noon Chicago time tomorrow, with burial services at 4:30 p. m. at Graceland cemetery. Mrs. Ryerson is survived by three cousins, Mrs. Clarence T. Willard of Gloversville, N. Y., and Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, and Mrs. Margaret Valentine of Chicago.

Taken Out by Boy, 14

A month ago today Glenn B. Simpson, 14 years old, a schoolboy of Genoa, Ill., took out one of the accident insurance policies offered by THE TRIBUNE to subscribers. He paid for it out of his own after-school earnings.

On Aug. 9, one day after the insurance became effective, Glenn was killed by an automobile on the highway near his home.

And on Saturday Glenn's mother, Mrs. Eleanor T. Simpson, was presented with a check for $1,000 by E. W. Kruswick, a representative of the Newspaper Readers Agency, Inc.

Mrs. Simpson is proud of her son's considerate provision, unusual at his age, and thankful that THE TRIBUNE made his act possible by its low cost policy.

A. F. L. REFUSES TO MARCH WITH C. I. O. MEMBERS

Pacific Freight Men's Breach Widens.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Union teamsters, pressing their "finish fight" again C. I. O. longshoremen and warehousemen, today led a bolt of many A. F. of L. units from San Francisco's projected Labor day parade tomorrow.

Teamsters, seeking jurisdiction over the Warehousemen's union, now affiliated with the C. I. O., had the San Francisco waterfront virtually isolated from inland activity. They planned to extend the tieup to Oakland Wednesday and were threatening to involve every port on the Pacific coast unless the John L. Lewis forces capitulated.

Refuse to Parade.

Leaders claiming to represent 12,000 teamsters vowed their men would take no part in any parade including C. I. O. organizations. A. F. of L. butchers, laundry workers, and theatrical employés did likewise.

Pleading for peace, but voicing a willingness to fight back if necessary, the longshoremen and other C. I. O. groups announced they would join the parade en masse and observe the rules laid down for it by the A. F. of L. labor council.

Four San Francisco teamster units decided to join the A. F. of L. parade in Oakland. There the opposing factions made arrangements for separate parades.

Truce Efforts Fail.

Neutral efforts to arrange a weekend truce in the name of labor unity went overboard.

Independent estimators said the A. F. of L. withdrawals would take between 12,000 and 20,000 men out of the San Francisco parade and that more might be expected.

DR. D. H. HINCKLEY FATALLY HURT IN FALL FROM TREE

Dr. John H. Hinckley, well known Chicago surgeon, died last night in Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan of injuries incurred when he fell 40 feet from an oak tree at his summer home in Winthrop Harbor. Dr. Hinckley, who was 59 years old, had climbed the tree to trim some branches.

He was local surgeon for the Illinois Central railroad and the Chicago Surface lines. He also was on the staf of the Fort Dearborn hospital, was vice president of the Illinois Medical and Dental service, and formerly was professor of eye, nose, and throat at the Chicago Hospital College of Medicine. During the war he was on the selective service examining board. He was chairman of the Chicago council of Boy Scouts.

He lived at 504 Oakwood boulevard with his wife, the former Jessie Bryan, who was with him at their summer home. Surviving with Mrs. Hinckley is one daughter, Helen Florence.

Donald Miehls, 11 years old, 528 Sheridan road, Evanston, was critically injured yesterday when he fell 25 feet from a tree. At St. Francis hospital physicians said he had a possible skull fracture. His father, D. G. Miehls, is associated with F. S. Yantis & Co., investment brokers at 120 South La Salle street.

E. P. FARWELL, 50, INVESTMENT FIRM OFFICER, IS DEAD

Edward P. Farwell, 780 Prospect avenue, Winnetka, vice president of Sheridan, Farwell, and Morrison, Inc., investment counselors, died yesterday in Portland, Me., near where he had been living this summer. He was 50 years old and had been ill several months.

Mr. Farwell, a graduate of of Harvard university in 1910, came to Chicago soon afterward as a representative of the Babson Statistical organization. In 1931 he was associated with E. E. Sheridan in the Chicago branch of Loomis-Sayles & Co., and in 1934 he joined Mr. Sheridan and Paul L. Morrison in the organization of Sheridan, Farwell, and Morrison, one of the first investment counsel firms in Chicago.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday in Winnetka with burial in Memorial Park cemetery. Mr. Farwell is survived by his widow, Elizabeth, and two sons, Loring C. and Robert L. Farwell.

Mrs. Mitchell, 78, Daughter of La Grange Founder, Dies

Mrs. Betty Mitchell, 78 years old, a lifelong resident of La Grange and a daughter of the late Franklin Cossitt, a founder of La Grange, died yesterday in the Berwyn hospital of complications following a fall in which she fractured her hip. The accident occurred in her home at 124 South La Grange road, La Grange. Mrs. Mitchell is survived by her husband, Herbert S. Mitchell, retired real estate dealer, and two sons, Herbert H. of La Grange, and Harry H. of Western Springs.

Wife Gravely Ill in Next Room, He Takes Own Life

While his wife lay near death in the next room, Marcus Mandell, 46 years old, ended his life with a bullet yesterday in their home at 18 South Homan avenue. Mrs. Mandell, critically ill for weeks, was unaware of what had happened. The tragedy was discovered by a neighbor who crawled in through a window when she found the doors locked. Mandell was a bartender.

QUARREL IN 1893 ON WEDDING EVE; FINALLY MARRY

Bride Again Wears Ring After 44 Years.

Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Nearly half a century ago two young lovers quarreled on their wedding eve.

Pretty 20 year old Athalinda Theresa Stillwagon returned her engagement ring to Aaron Nelson Lieberger. They parted, and until a few weeks ago never saw each other again.

Today, in the tiny ivy covered United Brethren church in Connellsville, they were married, their wedding delayed 44 years to the day.

Each Marries Later.

In the years the couple were separated each married. Miss Stillwagon became Mrs. T. H. Edmonds. Her husband died. Lieberger's wife died.

"In all those years," the bridegroom said today, "I never lost track of Athalinda. I kept informed of how she was and what she was doing through relatives. She never knew though."

Two years after T. H. Edmonds died Lieberger said he wrote to his Linda apologizing for the quarrel.

"Jealous Young Buck."

"It was all my fault. I was a jealous young buck in those days," he explained.

"I never really expected a reply to my letter," he added, "but I got one."

The two corresponded, and several weeks ago they met again.

Lieberger slipped an engagement ring on his sweetheart's finger. It was the same ring she'd returned years before.

"It was never on any other girl's finger, either," the bridegroom exclaimed.

The new Mrs. Lieberger set today's date for the wedding—her birthday. Today it was her 64th. The original date had been her 20th.

NEWS OF FINANCIAL AND GRAIN MARKETS

U. S. NOW HOLDS CHIEF SUPPLY OF SURPLUS WHEAT

But Export Business Still Is Small.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The United States has the only sizable surplus of wheat available in the world today. The price at which it is offered to foreign buyers has been cut approximately 25 cents a bushel in the last few weeks but buyers so far have no more than nibbled at the offerings.

Canada's supply of exportable wheat is comparatively small. The southern hemisphere wheat producing countries will not have any wheat to sell until several months hence when the harvesting of the present crop is completed. In the meantime the United States is playing the rôle of the chief world seller without, so far, much success.

Europe Needs American Wheat.

Great Britain, which imports 40 per cent of the total wheat purchased by importing countries, has displayed indifference to American wheat. That attitude would be more convincing were it not for the fact that Britain needs American grain.

On the basis of available statistics it is certain that Europe will need American wheat and will have to buy it in a larger volume than she has so far this season. In the opinion of competent observers, both in this country and abroad, it is only a matter of time until the present deadlock in trade is broken.

Russian Situation Puzzling.

How Russia will figure in the world wheat market this year remains uncertain. Little reliable information is obtainable on the supply situation in Russia.

The following table shows the range of prices on grain futures in the Chicago market last week:

The Packing Industry.

The American meat packing industry is one of the world's largest businesses. Statistics for 1935 show a capital investment of about a billion and a half dollars. The total value of the industry's products for that year was 1 billion 991 millions. There were 1,100 separate establishments, employing 108,000 individuals, exclusive of administrative employés, who were paid slightly more than 124 million dollars in wages.

About half the total value of the products produced in 1935, latest official statistics, consist of fresh meats. Cured meats—ham, bacon, corned beef, etc.—accounted for 23 per cent. Approximately 2 billion pounds of lard were produced with a value exceeding 250 millions. Hides, skins and pelts were valued at 110 millions, wool produced brought a return of 19 millions, hair was valued at more than a million dollars and other by-products brought in 235 millions.

Tomorrow: Start of the Packing Industry.

California Gold Output Is Largest Since 1862

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—In the eight years since the depression spurred a revival of gold mining, California has produced $150,347,633 worth of the metal, according to figures compiled by State Mineralogist Walter Bradley. In the last two years California has produced the most gold per year that has been mined in the state since 1869. In 1935 the total was $31,165,050 and in 1936 it was $37,710,470.

Japanese War Buying Lifts U.S. Gold Pile

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Japanese gold the last few weeks has become the largest single contributor to the rise in Uncle Sam's holdings of the precious metal to new peaks.

While Japan sent armies and guns into North China her gold headed for the United States, swelling the stream of metal flowing from Europe, Canada, and elsewhere.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York has reported the arrival of $5,800,000 additional gold from Japan, lifting receipts from that source to more than $43,000,000 since the end of July. More than 150 million dollars has been sold by Japan to the United States since March, with the United States treasury the ultimate buyer.

Send Metal to U. S.

The speeding of metal shipments from the far east since the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese hostilities has added to the interest of financial circles in the transfer of a large part of Japan's visible gold supply to Uncle Sam's treasure vaults. Does this shift mean Japan has been building up cash balances abroad as a precaution against application of the United States' neutrality laws and to fortify its purchasing power for war purposes in Europe?

Some observers answer in the affirmative, although foreign trade figures for the first half of the year indicate Japan had a heavy bill to pay in this country for steel scrap, pig iron, cotton, and machinery shipped before the guns began to roar around Shanghai.

Japan has been the largest taker of cotton and scrap in the United States this year. It has held supremacy as the major foreign market for American cotton for several seasons. Expansion in scrap takings has been more recent, coinciding with the rapid growth of its steel industry since 1929 and activity in war industries.

$4 Million Debt.

In the first half of 1937 Japan bought $165,519,000 in raw materials and goods in this country and sold about $111,000,000 to the United States. The exports compared with $93,042,000 in the same period last year. Thus, as shown in the trade figures, Japan in its visible balance was left in debt to this country to the tune of more than $54,000,000.

But gold shipments have been much above the trade deficit, indicating Japan may have been building up cash balances for war emergencies.

The $35 an ounce paid by the United States treasury has been a magnet for gold from all quarters of the globe. The far east, by tradition a hoarder of the precious metals, has sold more than $1,500,000,000 to the western countries since 1931, mainly England and the United States, not counting vast amounts of silver taken from China and India by the United States.

With Japan chiming in, the treasure chests of the east are still emptying into the unprecedented metal store of the United States. The domestic gold stock is nearing $12,600,000,000, surpassing the world's total recorded monetary gold reserve before leading currencies were devalued about 40 per cent.

Atlantic Coast Line.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me about Atlantic Coast Line railroad. —R. M.

Answer: Ranking as the leading carrier of southeastern United States, Atlantic Coast Line proper operates 5,148 miles of track extending southward from Richmond, Va., into Florida and westward to Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala. Connections are made at Birmingham with the affiliated Louisville and Nashville railroad and at Spartansburg, S. C., with Clinchfield railroad, leased jointly with L. & N. Through a subsidiary Atlantic Coast Line has direct access into Washington, D. C.

Atlantic Coast Line owns 51 per cent of the stock of Louisville and Nashville, which in turn owns 72 per cent of Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis stock.

The line's most profitable period is the winter and early spring when the Florida tourist and winter vegetable business augments heavy shipments from southern industrial regions.

Total operating revenues slumped from $72,871,904 in 1929 to a depression low of $37,268,564 in 1932. Recovery has been slow and last year revenues were only $43,563,215. Operating revenues for 12 months ended June 30, 1937, were $47,538,088, compared with $40,956,157 in the preceding 12 months.

Net income dropped from $11,921,507 or $14.48 a common share in 1929 to a loss of $6,685,290, equivalent to $4.13 a common share, in 1932. In 1933 loss was $2,385,782; in 1934, $495,478 and in 1935, $2,528,455. Net income in 1936 was $1,615,155 or $2.22 a common share. Net income for the first six months of this year was $3,123,658 or $2.57 a common share, despite loss of $526,535 in June. In the first half of last year net income was $300,678 or 36 cents a common share.

The road is not heavily capitalized in comparison with other important carriers. At the end of 1936 the capital structure consisted of $151,727,930 in bonds, or 65 per cent of the total capitalization; 1,967 shares of 5% noncumulative par $100 preferred stock, 0.1 per cent of the total; 10,000 shares of $100 par class A stock (assumed stock of Richmond and Petersburg railroad), 0.4 per cent, and 813,427 shares of $100 par common, 34.5 per cent. A dividend of $1 a share, first since 1932, was paid on the common in December, 1936.

On June 30 of this year current assets were $22,597,885 against current liabilities of $7,340,543.

The road's consolidated gold 4s are rated as sound. The common stock is still regarded as speculative.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Corn vs. Frost.

Sept. 5, 1937.

THERE is an interesting race going on nowadays between King Corn and Jack Frost. Weather recently has favored the corn. While Chicagoans sweltered under a heat wave, with the weather bureau announcing August of 1937 as one of the hottest on record, the ripening of corn proceeded swiftly in northern Illinois.

A trip down through the corn rows on THE TRIBUNE'S farms Friday revealed that many of the ears in the earliest planted fields already have started denting. All the other marks of ripening are noticeable—tassels are drooping, silks are taking on a dark brown color, and the characteristic rustling of ripening leaves is to be heard on every side.

Men at the farm near Plano and Yorkville believe that practically every field of corn on the place will win the race with Jack Frost, provided that the first freezing temperatures do not appear before Sept. 20.

Ears Risen Rapidly.

Early frosts might catch some of the latest planted corn on the Wheaton farm, but even there the manager believes that the ears are ripening so rapidly, as a result of the August hot weather, that practically all of the crop will escape damage unless killing frost appears ahead of the normal schedule. Corn at the Wheaton place was planted a little later than at the Yorkville farm, thirty miles farther south.

Dents began to show up on some of the corn on both farms in the early part of last week. The corn crop has made a good showing this season. There will be plenty of material for silage and the outlook is for a crop of high grade ears for use in fattening live stock this fall and winter.

The corn is ripening so rapidly that the fall feeding program can be started a little earlier than first planned. This is an important factor with many farmers in the dairy counties of northern Illinois where old feed supplies have been running low.

Credit Hybrid Strains.

The early ripening of corn is credited in part to the fact that early maturing strains of hybrids were planted this year. Practically all of the corn planted on the farms this season is from hybrid strains.

Eight different hybrid strains are being grown this year on the Yorkville farm. All are designated by numbers or combinations of letters and numbers. They are No. 119, No. 335, G No. 2, G No. 55, G No. 57, No. 93a, No. 94a, and No. 97a.

At the Wheaton farm are four hybrid strains and a small field of yellow dent, an open pollinated variety that has been a favorite among corn belt farmers for many years. The hybrids are No. 667, No. B 639, No. 657 L. E., and Iowealth No. 625.

In addition to the above strains there are some small test plots at the Wheaton farm planted with corn brought from South Africa and Argentina, along with a strain of Indian corn from Arizona.

Markets and Banks to Close Today

The principal commodity and security markets in the United States and Canada will be closed today, Labor day. Banks will also be closed. European markets will remain open as usual. Business will be resumed tomorrow morning at the regular hours.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS DRIFT LOWER IN WEEK

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Selling pressure harried the Curb market last week, although rallies and some short covering checking losses, prices generally drifted lower. Increasing gravity of affairs, both in the Mediterranean and at Shanghai, induced boardroom caution. Less optimistic prognostications of the domestic industrial near-term future served as a brake on trading.

The indices gave a mixed picture. The preceding week's electric power output was off slightly. Freight car loadings were up less than seasonally. Steel operations increased a bit, but backlogs diminished.

W. H. Marcussen to Head Borden's Farm Products

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—William H. Marcussen has been elected president of Borden's farm products division to succeed Harry A. Cronk, who has been appointed to the newly created position of chairman of the directing board of the division, Arthur W. Milburn, president of the Borden company, announced today. Marcussen has been with the Borden company for nearly 25 years, serving as assistant production manager and in other capacities, and until his promotion as vice president of the farm products division.

Rail Credit Concern Will Make Another Distribution

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Railroad Credit corporation, it was announced today, will make a liquidating distribution of 1 per cent totaling $735,115 on Sept. 15. Of this amount $604,340 will be paid in cash and $130,775 will be credited on carriers' indebtedness to the corporation.

INT. HARVESTER OUTDOES U. S. IN PENSION SYSTEM

More Security for Older Employes.

The International Harvester company has modified its pension plan to coordinate it with provisions of the social security act, Sydney G. McAllister, president, yesterday informed the company's 85,000 employés.

The changes will have the effect of providing a larger measure of old age security for employés with long service records, he said. Older employés would be unable to accumulate an adequate old age pension under the federal plan and some could not qualify at all because of advanced years, he added. No retired employé who was receiving a pension at the end of 1936 will be affected by the changes.

Explains Pension Plan.

Under the revised plan any male employé who had completed at least 30 years of service on Dec. 31, 1936, will become eligible for a pension when he reaches the age of 60. The amount of his pension will be based on his service and compensation up to Dec. 31, 1936.

Any male employé who was 51 years of age or over on Dec. 31, 1936, and who on that date had 21 years of service, will be eligible for a pension at the age of 60, after 30 years of service. The amount of his pension will be based on his service and compensation to Dec. 31, and will be adjusted according to a sliding scale of percentages varying in relation to the year of retirement.

Pensions for Older Men.

Any male employé who was 61 years of age or over on Jan. 1, 1937, and who consequently will not be eligible to receive a federal pension under the social security act, will be eligible for a company pension when he reaches the age and service requirements under the plan in effect prior to Jan. 1. The amount of pension will be based on his service and compensation to the date he becomes eligible, but not beyond Dec. 31, 1941.

All male employés having five years' service or more on Dec. 31, 1936, will be eligible for company pensions at the age of 65, based on service and compensation up to Dec. 31, 1936. These employés will also qualify under the social security act, based on their compensation after last Dec. 31.

Any woman employé who had five years' service at the close of 1936 will be eligible for a company pension when she reaches the age of 55 and has had 20 years of service. The amount of compensation will also be based on service and compensation up to Dec. 31, 1936.

McAllister said that, in supplementing the federal old age pension plan the harvester company has voluntarily obligated itself to expend millions of dollars in protecting the pension status of employés. He said that it will be about 2000 A. D. before the company's pension program is closed out under the liberalized program.

Employés May Retire Earlier.

For many years the company permitted retirement of male employés at age 60, and of female employés at age 50, if they had sufficient years of service. The federal plan raised the requirements to age 65, and in July, 1936, the company changed its age limitations to conform to the federal plan. The principal liberalization made in the company's plan now permits male employés to retire at 60 and women at 55. A sliding scale is provided for employés who retire between the ages of 60 and 65 between now and 1945.

Since 1908, when the pension plan was inaugurated, nearly 5,000 employés have been retired on pensions, of whom 2,600 still are living, McAllister said. He added that the number will be increased by the new program.

Funds Held in Trust.

The fund was established with a trust fund of $18,695,000, and since that time an additional $11,700,000 has been contributed. At the present time more than $30,000,000 is in the fund, in the form of an irrevocable trust, invested in sound securities.

Approximately $17,800,000 has been paid out in pensions since inception of the plan. McAllister said the company will pay about a million dollars to the federal government this year in pay roll taxes, under the federal old age plan, in addition to its own pension appropriations.

HORNER TO SPEAK AT TRADE GROUP ANNUAL SESSION

Gov. Henry Horner, Robert V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, and Ernest Palmer, director of the state department of insurance, will address the nineteenth annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce Oct. 14 and 15 at the Hotel La Salle, the chamber announced yesterday.

The taxation problem will be analyzed and legislative activities reviewed at the meetings. More than 2,000 business leaders are expected to attend.

WEATHER PROVES DETERRENT TO CHICAGO TRADE

Adverse weather and general consumer indifference depressed all lines of Chicago business last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Retail stores reported sales far below the level of recent weeks.

Wholesalers reported few new commitments, although orders received to date are still well ahead of a year ago. Holiday travel and tourist trade continued to show some gains over last year.

Holiday Finds Stock Market in Doldrums

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Traditionally the week before Labor day reaches a year's low point of financial activity. Last week not only displayed the lethargy familiar to the period but produced a declining stock market and dimmed hopes for a hearty revival of interest after the holiday.

Stocks were persistently weak and for the third consecutive week finished with a decline from the preceding week, despite the fact that the last two trading sessions witnessed rises in the averages for fifty representative issues. From Aug. 14 to last week's low point, reached on Thursday, the index dropped 14.32, or the greatest loss in so short a period in more than four years.

Only 3 Reach New Highs.

Over the six days of trading only three issues were bid up to new high marks for the year in contrast with 317 stocks which dropped to new lows. Transfers of ownership amounted to 3,906,550 shares. On Thursday the list had its greatest turnover in nearly two months, aggregating 1,304,400 shares, but the burst of activity was at the expense of prices, values declining from fractions to 4 points and more.

Pivotal leaders of the market were under pressure for the greater part of the week and finished lower despite pre-holiday short covering that developed in the closing sessions. U. S. Steel added 3¾ points to its decline of more than 7 for the preceding six days on the second largest volume in the list and finished at 104⅝.

Retail Sales Lower.

Over the week the heaviest losses were incurred by the merchandising shares, the selling being attributed to increased reports of a slowing down of retail buying throughout the country.

Increasing comment is being made in financial circles on the failure of substantial recovery to take place in building construction, especially in residential building, which is being nursed by the government.

STEEL OUTPUT STEADY DESPITE LIGHT BUYING

In spite of light buying, steel production last week continued at the high rate of 93 per cent of ingot capacity, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

Producers apparently are not alarmed by the small volume of new business and are seeking to clear their books of backlogs, which still remain large in a few lines, the magazine said. New business is increasing each week but at a very gradual rate. Automobile companies have ordered some tonnage, but not in the volume expected.

Only minor changes were made last week in operating rates at various steel centers, the declines just offsetting the gains.

Pig iron production in August amounted to 3,616,954 tons, the largest amount for the month since August, 1929, when 3,746,954 tons were produced. The daily rate of 116,676 tons was 3.3 per cent larger than in July this year. Output during the first eight months this year totaled 26,888,648 tons, an increase of 42.4 per cent over the corresponding period of 1936.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

NO LABOR TROUBLES.
There is no labor trouble in our field—no shutdowns, no lay offs, no pay cuts. Our organization is just one big family. Every man has a working interest and shares in the profits. He is paid every cent he earns. This is computed on a percentage and bonus basis.

We manufacture and distribute one of the finest electrical units on the market and we are enjoying one of the most profitable years in the history of our business. Many of our men will take from $5.000 to $15.000 for their share this year.

We are coming into our fall campaign, which will mean more business and more profit to our men, and necessitate the addition of a few more men. No matter what you have done in the past there is an opportunity her for you. Our organization is made up of men from the trades and different lines of work, carpenters, brick layers, teachers, ministers, clerical workers, and laborers. Any one with an average intelligence and a will to work can make real money with us.

The only qualifications we ask are as follows: Married, over 25, good references, live on south side, and ready to start work at once. For further information come to Room 400, 841 E. 63d-st., Tuesday a. m. at 10 o'clock sharp.

SALESMEN.
UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY.

If you can furnish good references and can prove that you have earned good money selling specialties, we have a proposition that will interest you. We only want men who can earn more than $100 per week within two weeks' time. With unusually high commissions many of our men are earning over $150 per week. We have the fastest selling specialty appliance on the market, backed by an organization that has been in business for 93 years. Please come prepared to furnish references and some proof of your selling ability.

THE BRUNSWICK-BALKE-COLLENDER CO.
623 South Wabash-avenue,
First Floor South.
Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 to 12 a. m.

MEN, 40 TO 60 YEARS.

Scores of men beyond the age-limit of routine commercial work are earning $100 a week comm. in this dignified business presenting S. E. and Investment facts to prospective investors, for old established firm dealer in holdings throughout the U. S. No sales experience necessary.

AT ONCE

We will employ several neat appearing men, 25 to 45, of average ability who desire a permanent connection with a national organization manufacturing electrical unit; must be willing to work 8 hours a day and start at our terms. This means about $40 per week on percentage basis. Employment Manager, Room 618, 203 North Wabash-avenue.

WHOLESALE GROCERY SALESMEN.

The distributors of Rosemary and White City finer foods require several additional men for Chicago and suburban territories. Permanent employment and better than average earnings assured men who qualify. Comm. Applicants must have grocery or food selling experience. See Mr. Reilly, 344 N. Ogden.

MEN.

If you possess sales ability or have had some experience in contacting the public, investigate this opportunity. Local company dealing in full line of home furnishings needs 3 men immediately for special fall campaign. Experience in our type of work necessary. Car helpful, but not essential. Will average better than $30 per week on our advance commission and bonus plan. Drawing account privileges. For personal interview see Mr. Nelson, 8334 West 63d-street.

CAN YOU SELL?

If you are not too old to learn a new business—if you have a good sales background and the ambition to make good the proprietors of Kentucky Tavern whiskey will teach you the liquor business. Complete training will be given several men. Protected clientele and generous commission plan assures satisfactory earnings immediately with unlimited future possibilities. See Mr. Reilly, 344 N. Ogden.

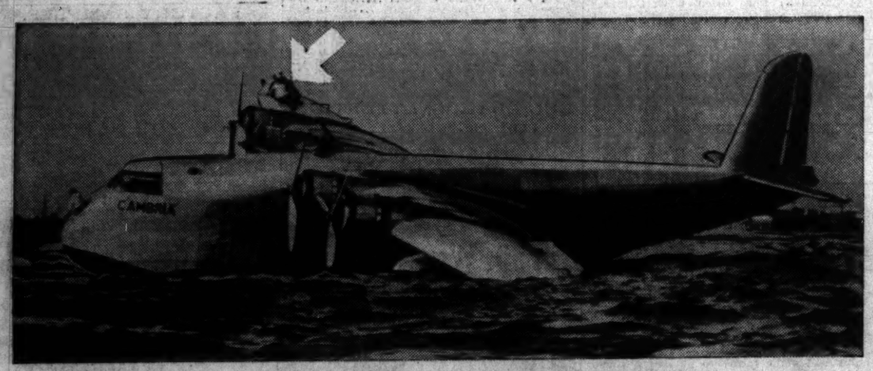
Japs Launch Drive by Land, Sea and Air Against Shanghai—Grimm Protests Game As Cubs Lose Double-Header

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

SEARCHING THE RUINS OF THEIR HOMES AFTER BOMBARDMENT BY JAPANESE—After war comes desolation, as depicted in this scene in one of the tiny villages making up the native quarter of Peiping. These Chinese are looking through the debris for what may have escaped the gunfire of the invading troops, which destroyed their squalid homes after resistance was encountered. Yesterday the Japanese extended their blockade against the whole length of China's 2,150 mile coastline, then launched a big offensive against Shanghai by land, sea and air. (Story on page 1.)

[Acme Photo.]

SWEDEN PRACTICES PREPAREDNESS FOR AIR RAIDS—Known as a peaceful country, Sweden is nevertheless preparing to meet any eventualities in unsettled Europe. This anti-air raid squad, equipped with gas masks and protective suits made of asbestos, is shoveling earth from a truck to extinguish a gas explosion in a mock attack.



BRITISH FLYING BOAT CRASHES AFTER ATLANTIC CROSSING—The 18 ton Cambria of Imperial Airways after it lost pontoon in landing on Lake Ontario at Toronto. Note crew perched on right wing tip, where they clambered to balance the ship and save it from serious disaster. It was believed the pontoon struck a submerged log.

CHARLEY TELLS THE UMP A FEW THINGS—Manager Grimm of the Cubs (left) protesting with gestures to Umpire Ballanfant during fifth inning of yesterday's second game. Ballanfant called a Pittsburgh baserunner out for running out of line and spoiled a forced play at the plate. Augie Galan of the Cubs is next to Grimm. Pitcher Clay Bryant is behind the umpire. Grimm protested the game. (Story on page 19.)

A WANDERER AND HIS BENEFACTOR—John Hicks, 11, with Miss Elizabeth Johnson, who gave him a free meal when he walked into restaurant three days after running away from home. She notified police and the boy went home.

JEWS OPEN CELEBRATION OF ROSH HASHANA—Jacob Genisevitch (left), Rabbi Morris Skolnik, Samuel Levy, and Moses Puchkovsky (sounding the shofar or ram's horn) in Jewish Orthodox Home for the Aged, 1648 South Albany avenue, yesterday as the faithful throughout the city began solemn observance. (Story on page 15.)
